DARROW QUESTIONS JURY

Firm Belief in Teachings of Bible

By Associated Press

Dayton, Tenn.—Judge Raulston was taking a well earned rest Saturday. The presiding justice in the Scopes trial did a big days work Friday in administering the routine of his court. In addition he performed another day's labor in shaking hands with his numerous friends of the law and the laity, in keeping order in the crowded court auditorium and in extending the courtesies to prominent visiting attorneys.

Raulston threatened to clear the courtroom at one stage when the spectators, usually in good order considering the scores who occupied crowded standing room burst into spontaneous applause.

They were cheering the response of a prospective juror who told Darrow emphatically that he believed in the Bible. The judge and the two officers attending him in good order by energetic fanning after which the cheering subsided and the juror was mildly lectured by the court. The threat of expulsion was effective and no more displays of feeling occurred.

VENDORS OBJECT

The agreement between defense and prosecution, lawyers which brought an adjournment of court from Friday afternoon until Monday afternoon was without the consent of the concession holders who had counted on continuing Friday rush business through the weekend. They expressed deep disappointment over the ruling which sent many prospective customers away for their Saturday purchasing.

All of the twelve jurors who will sit in the case of Scopes have "heard of evolution," according to their replies to Darrow's examination. Most of them heard very little of it, until this thing came up.

"Have you heard Mr. Bryan talk on evolution?" was one of the Chicago lawyer's favorite questions. He frequently wished to know if the prospect had heard his minister talk about evolution. Some of them had and some of them couldn't remember if they had. Darrow asked every veteran attorney about his church affiliations.

QUESTIONS VENTURE

Darrow appeared to put much store in how the veterans felt about the opinion of his neighbors. He asked each candidate if he knew what his neighbors thought of evolution and whether he cared anything about his neighbor's opinion on the subject. The men questioned invariably said they cared nothing for the opinions of their neighbors.

It was agreed, however, should a special election be called that a statewide convention of Democrats would be held, and a candidate for the office selected.

China And Mexico Cause
Kellogg To Visit Chief

Swampscott, Mass.—President Coolidge has arranged for a series of conferences with cabinet officers and other important officials during the next few weeks, so it will not really appear as all play and no work at the summer capital.

The president has let it be known that he always will be available to any member of the cabinet or head of any of the government departments who may want to consult him. Secretary Kellogg of the department of state is the first to avail himself of the privilege. He asked for a conference and promptly was granted one.

The secretary has had a number of things on his mind in the last few weeks and while none can be called critical, each is so important that the guidance of the president as well as his instruction is desired. While Mr. Coolidge gives a free hand to his cabinet officers he remains nevertheless responsible for the broad principles of policy which they develop and carry to him for his approval.

TWO VITAL QUESTIONS

There are two vital questions which have been commanding the attention of the department of state. One is China and the other Mexico.

John V. A. MacMurray, newly appointed American minister to China, has just reached Peking. His first reports on the situation have come through to the secretary of state. Mr. MacMurray is to proceed with arrangements for a conference of powers interested in China but before that he must exchange viewpoints with the diplomats in Peking.

American policy in the Far East is therefore at the incipient stage. Mr. Kellogg does not feel like deciding the questions involved without having a comprehensive talk with the president.

TWO CHILDREN KILLED
WHEN DAM GIVES WAY

By Associated Press

Great Falls, Mont.—Earthquakes during the last three weeks are believed responsible for the breaking of Silver Lake Mining Co.'s dam at Nehalem, 68 miles southeast of here Friday night, which resulted in the death of two children, wrecked three homes and damaged property to the extent of $15,000.

Searchers early Saturday were seeking the bodies of the two children swept to their deaths shortly before midnight Friday when the dam gave way.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Ricker, parents of the victims, and one other child escaped when the 15-foot wall of water and mud hurtled down the coulee leading into "Carpenter creek" by climbing up the side of a mass of debris which had been rolled up by the flood.

Three houses in the valley below the dam were destroyed, according to the message.

A storeroom and pumping station owned by the mining company were wrecked. Two or three other houses were in the path of the flood and their fate is not known definitely.

By Associated Press

Swampscott, Mass.—Foreign affairs particularly the Chinese and debt situation held the attention of President Coolidge Saturday with a conference arranged between him and Secretary Kellogg and Under-Secretary Grew of the state department.

Prior to the arrival here of the state department officials, the president had indicated he would confine his discussion with them to the debt funding and Chinese problems, perhaps the two most vexing confronting the department.

Taking cognizance of rumors, the president let it be known that he expects Secretary Mellon and Ambassador Herrick will continue in their present duties. He has had no intimation from either of a contemplated resignation.

The muskie flopped, broke the string and was gone. Buster jumped into the water, grabbed the fish in his arms, and after wrestling with him for a few minutes brought him to the boat where he was again landed.

Sale of Homes to Son Not Intended as Evasion, Capitalist Says

By Associated Press

New York—Sale of John D. Rockefeller's four homes to his son, John D. Rockefeller Jr., is announced, but vigorous denial is made that the purpose is to avoid heavy inheritance taxes which would be levied if the son were to come into possession of the homes after the father's death.

The properties involved are a 2,800-acre estate at Pocantico hills, Tarrytown, N. Y., a town house in New York City, a country estate at Lockwood, N. J., and a winter home at Ormond Beach, Fla.

If the office of Ivy L. Lee, counsel for public relations for the Rockefeller family, it was said Friday: "The price paid for the properties by the son of property was more than $2,000,000. The property was not sold to evade the inheritance tax or the gift tax as suggested. The money was paid in cash."

BAR OHIO INSURANCE
FIRM FROM WISCONSIN

By Associated Press

Madison—The American Insurance Union, Columbus, O., a fraternal society, has been ordered to cease writing insurance in Wisconsin. Wm. Stanley Smith, insurance commissioner, announced Saturday. The refusal to grant the company a license came following a hearing before the insurance commission Friday on the investment by the society of more than 20 per cent of its assets in a home office building, which is contrary to Wisconsin law.

The testimony showed that on Dec. 31, 1924 the society's admitted assets amounted to $3,094,432.97. Commissioner Smith said in a letter to former Congressman John J. Lentz, president of the society, and that the cost of the 8-story home office building now in the course of construction together with the cost of these it will approximate $4,400,000.

BRITISH UNIONS BACK

London—The general council of trade unions' congress Saturday issued a manifesto endorsing the refusal of the Miners' federation to meet mine owners until the owners' proposal calling for lower wages and a longer day are withdrawn. The congress pledged assistance to the miners in every way.

The refusal of the miners to meet the operators until the proposals are withdrawn virtually ends the efforts toward mediation that have been conducted by the first lord of the admiralty, W. C. Bridgeman. The Baldwin government is expected to begin an inquiry into the whole question of the mining dispute.

Antigo Widow Freed Of Husband's Death Charge

By Associated Press

Antigo—Mrs. Beulah Schisel was acquitted of the charge of murder of her husband, Charles, by a jury here Friday night, after 27 minutes' deliberation.

The trial was brief. Schisel died in a hospital on Apr. 15 from knife wounds in his throat, inflicted five days previously. Just before he died he accused his wife. She has consistently denied his charge. She testified that he arose during the night and went out of the room and that she found him later with his throat slashed.

Most of the testimony dealt with the husband's accusations and attempts of the defense to prove that Schisel was of unsound mind. Dr. E. J. Donohue testified Friday morning that the husband had been subject to melancholy.

The wife testified that she did not suspect that Schisel was insane until after his death but said that she had quarreled frequently and that once she went to St. Louis for two months without sending word to her husband.

Attorney General States Trial
Will Settle Only Scopes' Guilt

By Associated Press

Dayton, Tenn.—With the first preliminary steps cleared away, including the selection of a jury, counsel for both the defense and prosecution in the Scopes evolution case Saturday planned conferences to consider the next move in the game of legal chess. No session of the trial was scheduled Saturday, the defense having asked a day to consider angles of its case.

The jury is composed of ten farmers, one school teacher and farmer combined and one shipping clerk. Only one is not a church member.

With indications of a battle in the offing, the defense meeting was to determine on what grounds it would base its plea for admission into the evidence the testimony of experts along scientific and religious lines tempting to show that the theory of evolution, the announced intention of Attorney General Stewart, is in conflict with the biblical account of creation.

PREPARE FOR ATTACK

While they were seeking a firm basis for their contention that such testimony would be relevant, prosecution attorneys were drawing up their battle lines to withstand the expected attack.

Indications Saturday were that they would attempt to have the testimony introduced as matter for the information of the presiding judge, to be dealt with afterwards as he sees fit. Prosecution attorneys on the other hand, consider the case one in which only the question of whether or not John Thomas Scopes taught that man descended from a lower form of animal.

CLASH MONDAY

The adjournment of the oath to the jury Monday followed by the reading of the indictment and the arraignment of the defendant will bring the opposing counsel together for their first real clash in the trial.

In a statement to the Associated Press Friday night he declared "since the state has made known its position concerning the competency of the proposed evidence of scientists tending to show that there is no conflict between evolution and the Bible, I think it but right that our position should also be definitely stated and that it might be understood that we intend to back our position as vigorously as we know how."

Continuing, he declared it to be his understanding that Scopes would not deny he taught to high school students that man descended from a lower order of animal.

"SAVANTS CAN'T SAVE HIM"

"If that be true," he said, "he is guilty of violation of the law and all the evidence of scientists within his reach cannot save him. The law, it is said, that it shall not be taught to the students in the public schools that man descended from a lower order of animals." Whether or not scientists might be brought into court to expound the belief that man descended from a lower order of animal by the process of God's creation, he felt would make no difference, declaring the laws says such cannot be taught.

Production of expert witnesses by both sides, he said, would lead to "a never ending proposition and would in the end be a babble of tongues."

The statement of the attorney general came Friday night at the conclusion of the first day's proceedings.

They were George C. Funk, an architect; Timothy J. Barry, president of the club and Hyman Bloom, lessee of the building.

COUNTY WITHOUT COURT UNTIL A JUDGE IS NAMED

Early Appointment of Successor to Spencer Will Be Urged on Governor.

The vacancy in the municipal court as a result of the death of Judge A. M. Spencer Thursday creates a situation that has a number of serious problems.

Judge Fred C. Holmstrom of the county court who sat for Mr. Spencer during his illness will under the provisions of the statutes be unable to continue this work, in the opinion of lawyers interpreting the municipal court act.

The vacancy leaves the county without any means to prosecute criminal actions until a successor is appointed. Under the circumstances, it is expected that members of the bar and enforcement officers will urge an early appointment by the governor.

Provision is made by the municipal court act that a county judge may preside in this court in the absence, sickness or temporary disability of the municipal judge, when the latter gives the county judge a written appointment to that effect. No provision, however, is made for calling in the county judge in the case of death of the municipal judge.

TRY CIVIL CASES

Civil actions ordinarily tried in municipal court may be commenced in circuit court, and the present vacancy in the former court may shift a good deal of this work to the circuit court until a successor to Judge Spencer has been appointed.

A different status exists with reference to criminal actions. These formerly could be transferred to the circuit court, but there is at present no municipal court machinery to transfer them.

There is practically no one with authority to sign warrants for the arrest of offenders against the statutes. An offender needs no warrant to arrest a person whom he sees in the act of committing an offense, but he cannot make an arrest upon the complaint of other persons without a warrant.

Justices of the peace may sign warrants for the arrest of offenders against city ordinances and preside in these cases, and some attorneys also are of the opinion that they may issue warrants and preside in cases under the county ordinances. Their jurisdiction also is said to extend to minor criminal offenses. There is a justice of the peace in practically every community in the county.

In view of the unsettled condition of judicial matters in this county, some persons have suggested a temporary appointment of a judge to serve until the vacancy is filled definitely. Others, however, are inclined to disagree, as they feel that no temporary appointment can be made and that the judge appointed to the vacancy must hold office until the next spring election.

Took 73 Days For Belgium To Unite On New Premier

BY MILTON BRONNER

Brussels—Said the Vicomte Poullet, new prime minister of Belgium: "I am sorry your majesty, but I don't know the oath."

Said King Albert, smilingly: "No more do I."

Said Emile Vandervelde, leader of the Socialist party, deputy prime minister and secretary for foreign affairs:

"Never mind. I will help you. I know the oath. It starts out—'Je jure fidelite au Roi, etc.'—I swear fidelity to the king."

Thus ended in the Brussels palace of the king the longest and greatest political crisis in the history of Belgium and the most peculiar, perhaps, in all the history of European constitutional countries.

For 73 long days the country had been without a responsible government. Routine services were carried on, but Belgium could not take part in the important negotiations with France and England concerning a peace pact with Germany guaranteeing the Rhine frontier.

Belgium couldn't fix its own budget.

Belgium couldn't tax its own people.

Belgium couldn't take steps to deal with the urgent unemployment situation.

ELECTION LEFT A TIE

The whole trouble arose out of the parliamentary elections of about three months ago. When the votes were counted, it was found the Senate consisted of 71 Catholics, 23 Liberals and 59 Socialists.

No party, therefore, had a clear working majority. But things were even worse in the House, which is the important branch.

The Catholics and Socialists each had 78 members and the Liberals 33, with a few scattered among minority parties. The king summoned leader after leader to form a cabinet and each in turn failed.

The Liberals refused to form a coalition with anybody. Prior to the election, they had been in a coalition with the Catholics. They thus alienated some of their working class support.

And they were unwilling to form a coalition with the Socialists, because the bulk of Liberal support comes from business people. And it seemed as if any coalition between Catholics and Socialists was impossible.

The Catholic party had gone into battle with this election cry: "You are going to have to choose between social revolution and social order."

A number of Catholic leaders tried to form a coalition but in vain. Then Vandervelde, leader of the Socialist party, tried it. Also in vain.

NEITHER PARTY UNITED

It looked as if the king would have to dissolve the Parliament and try another election.

But it happens that neither the Catholic party nor the Socialist party is solid inside. They are all divided over questions of race, language and attitude towards property and social questions.

For instance: In Belgium there are two distinct races—the Walloons, who are of French blood and speak French, and the Flemish, who are of Teutonic blood and speak Flemish. The "Flemings," as they are called, insist that Flemish shall be used as commonly as French everywhere in the kingdom. Some even want a sort of division of the kingdom into Flanders and Wallonia.

Inside the Catholic party the Flemings and Catholics, under the leadership of M. van Cauwelaert, mayor of Antwerp, are opposed to the Walloon Catholics.

But there are also antipathies between the Catholic Christian Democrats and the Catholic Conservatives, between the Catholic anti-Militarists, who are partisans of a return to strict neutrality and the Catholic Nationalists, who are keen for the alliance with France.

ANOTHER DIVISION

Inside the Socialist party, similarly, the Flamant Socialistists are opposed to the Walloon Socialistists. Then there are Socialists who are partisans of a close alliance with France as opposed to Socialists who are partisans of a closer relationship with England and Germany.

It was owing to these inside cleavages that a cabinet could finally be formed. Vandervelde got his Socialist troops united. Vicomte Poullet, as leader of the Flemish Catholics secured a block of 40 votes in the House. And the jobs were divided very evenly.

Poullet became premier and minister for economic affairs. He gave his partisans the ministries of justice, finance, agriculture and colonies. Vandervelde became deputy premier and minister for foreign affairs. And his partisans got the important jobs of ministers of science and art, railways, mails and telegraph, public works and trade and labor.

Thus each big party got five ministries. The ministries of interior and defense were given to men outside both parties.

COURT TAKES REST AFTER OPENING DAY

Judge Raulston Has Busy Session Friday Greeting Friends, Visitors

DARROW QUESTIONS JURY

Farmer Vigorously Asserts Firm Belief in Teachings of Bible

By Associated Press

Dayton, Tenn.—Judge Raulston was taking a well earned rest Saturday. The presiding justice in the Scopes trial did a big day's work Friday in administering the routine of his court. In addition he performed another day's labor in shaking hands with his numerous friends of the law and the laity, in keeping order in the crowded court auditorium and in extending the courtesies to prominent visiting attorneys.

Raulston threatened to clear the courtroom at one stage when the spectators, usually in good order considering the scores who occupied crowded standing room burst into spontaneous applause.

They were cheering the response of a prospective juror who told Darrow emphatically that he believed in the Bible. The judge and the two officers attending him restored order by energetic pounding after which the cheer throng was mildly lectured by the court. The threat of expulsion was effective and no more displays of feeling occurred.

VENDORS OBJECT

The agreement between defense and prosecution lawyers which brought an adjournment of court from Friday afternoon until Monday afternoon was without the consent of the concession holders who had counted on continuing Friday rush business through the weekend. They expressed deep disappointment over the ruling which sent many prospective customers away for their Saturday purchases.

All of the twelve jurors who will sit in the case of Scopes have "heard of evolution," according to their replies to Darrow's examination. Most of them heard very little of it, until this thing came up.

"Have you heard Mr. Bryan talk on evolution?" was one of the Chicago lawyer's favorite questions. He frequently wished to know if the prospect had heard his minister talk about evolution.

Some of them couldn't remember if they had. Darrow asked every venireman about his church affiliations.

QUESTIONS VENIREMEN

Darrow appeared to put much store in how the veniremen felt about the opinion of his neighbors. He asked each candidate if he knew what his neighbors thought of evolution and whether he cared anything about his neighbors' opinion non the subject. The men questioned invariably said they cared nothing for the opinions of their neighbors.

Judge Raulston, in telling the jury-men that they would not be kept together during the progress of the trial, warned them to refrain from discussion of the issues.

SPECIAL ELECTION IS TOO EXPENSIVE, DEMOCRATS DECIDE

Milwaukee—Declaring that a special election would be too expensive, the state Democrats called into special meeting Friday by John M. Colahan, chairman of the Democratic State Central committee, adopted a resolution urging Governor E. A. Tamm to call a special session of the legislature and ask for power to appoint a man to fill the vacancy in the United States Senate left by the death of Senator Robert M. La Follette.

It was agreed, however, should a special election be called that a statewide convention of Democrats would be held, and a candidate for the office selected.

ARMY MAN SLAYS TO FEEL THRILL

Police Seek Deserter from Air Forces as Murderer of Taxi Driver

By Associated Press
Minneapolis, N. Y.—Having committed murder to get the super-thrill of his hectic career, in the opinion of the authorities, Philip K. Knapp, 27 years old, ex-college Beau Brummel, deserter from the army aviation corps and wrecker of women's hearts is being sought by police.

Knapp is accused of picking for his victim a modest, trusting man, Louis Panella, Hempstead, taxicab driver, and father of two children. Searchers stumbled over a foot protruding from the ruins of the "old Camp Mills" base hospital near here July 4. Panella disappeared the previous night. "That same" day Knapp had obtained a three day leave. Knapp in a note said he had made up his mind to kill because he had exhausted every other means to get a "kick" out of life. The note was found in his locker.

Addressed to his father, William V. Knapp, Syracuse, N. Y., engineer and to the commandant of his observation squadron.

China And Mexico Cause Kellogg To Visit Chief

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1925 by The Post Pub. Co.

Swampscott, Mass.—President Coolidge has arranged for a series of conferences with cabinet officers and other important officials during the next few weeks so it will not really appear as all play and no work at the summer capital.

The president has let it be known that he always will be available to any member of the cabinet or head of any of the government departments who may want to consult him. Secretary Kellogg of the department of state is the first to avail himself of the privilege. He asked for a conference and promptly was granted one.

"The secretary has had a number of things on his mind in the last two weeks and while none can be called critical, each is so important that the guidance of the president as well as his instruction is desired. While Mr. Coolidge gives a free hand to his cabinet officers he remains nevertheless responsible for the broad principles of policy which they develop and carry to him for his approval."

TWO VITAL QUESTIONS
These are two vital questions which have been commanding the attention of the department of state. One is China and the other Mexico.

John V. A. MacMurray, newly appointed American minister to China, has just reached Peking. His first reports on the situation have come through to the secretary of state.

Mr. MacMurray is to proceed with powers conferred in a conference with the diplomats in Peking. The American policy in the Far East is therefore at the incipient stage. Mr. Kellogg does not feel like deciding the questions involved without having a comprehensive talk with the president.

U. S. WANTS UNITY

The American purpose at the moment is to achieve unity inside China, to bring the outside powers into harmony on questions of foreign rights in China and to ally the anti-foreign forces.

FORECAST SHOWERS, NORMAL TEMPERATURE

BANKER DIES WITHOUT REVEALING HIS SECRET

Kansas City, Mo.—A victim of slow suicide, Joseph R. Gant, banker, died early Saturday without revealing what became of $633,000 which he was charged with having embezzled from the defunct Centropolis State bank in which he was president.

The Gant institution was a "one man" bank and examiners declared only Gant could solve the riddle of where the shortage went.

Gant often said he had no desire to live and doctors and members of his family said this undoubtedly caused his death.

BADGER NAMED TO MAKE TOUR THROUGH EAST

Dean H. L. Russell of Wisconsin Will Study Oriental Education

By Associated Press

Russell of the agricultural college of the University of Wisconsin has been elected by the International Educational board to represent it in making a study of educational conditions in the Far East. It was announced Saturday at the university. The study includes an examination of educational facilities and conditions of Japan, China, Siam, the Philippines, Java, Australia and New Zealand.

A leave of absence of one year has been granted Dean Russell.

The International Educational board is interested particularly in the fields of physical sciences, chemistry, the physical biological sciences of botany and zoology and also in agriculture, including forestry. It is extending its activities this year in these fields after its experience in Europe for one and a half years.

Several representatives have been in several European countries during that period. Arrangement has been made for a number of European scholars to study similar lines in America.

The commission of Dean Russell to the Far East will bring him in close contact with the government authorities and educational institutions of the several countries visited. He will sail in September.

TWO CHILDREN KILLED WHEN DAM GIVES WAY

By Associated Press

Great Falls, Mont.—Earthquakes during the last three weeks are believed responsible for the bracking of Silver Dyke Mining Co.'s dam at Nehalem, 68 miles southeast of here Friday night, which resulted in the death of two children, wrecked three homes and damaged property to the extent of $15,000.

Searchers early Saturday were seeking the bodies of the two children swept to their deaths shortly before midnight Friday when the dam gave way.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Ricker, parents of the victims, and one other child escaped when the 15-foot wall of water and mud hurled down the coulee leading into Carpenter creek by climbing up the side of a mass of debris which had been rolled up by the flood.

Three houses in the valley below the dam were destroyed, according to the message.

A storeroom and pumping station owned by the mining company were wrecked. Two or three other houses were in the path of the flood and their fate is not known definitely.

EXPECTS MELLON AND HERRICK WILL REMAIN

By Associated Press

Swampscott, Mass.—Foreign affairs particularly the Chinese and debt situation held the attention of President Coolidge Saturday with a conference arranged between him and Secretary Kellogg and Under-Secretary Grew of the state department.

Prior to the arrival here of the state department officials, the president had indicated he would confine his discussion with them to the debt funding and Chinese problems, perhaps the two most vexing confronting the department.

Taking cognizance of rumors, the president has let it be known that he expects Secretary Mellon and Ambassador Herrick will continue in their present duties. He has had no intimation from either of a contemplated resignation.

Antigo Widow Freed Of Husband's Death Charge

By Associated Press

Antigo—Mrs. Eulalia Schisel was acquitted of the charge of murder of her husband, Charles, by a jury here Friday night, after 27 minutes' deliberation.

The trial was brief. Schisel died in a hospital on Apr. 15 from knife wounds in his throat, inflicted five days previously. Just before he died he accused his wife. She has consistently denied his charge. She testified that he arose during the night and went out of the room and that she found him later with his throat slashed.

Most of the testimony dealt with the husband's accusations and the defense to prove that Schisel was of unsound mind. Dr. E. J. Donohue testified Friday morning that the husband had been subject to melancholy.

The wife testified that she did not suspect that Schisel was insane until after his death but said that he had quarreled frequently and that once she went to St. Louis for two months without sending word to her husband.

JONAH HAS NOTHING ON LAD WHO CAUGHT MUSKIE IN HIS ARMS

Superior—When it comes to fishing there are few anglers who will compare with Buster Larson, 12, of Superior. Even Jonah has nothing on Buster.

Thursday, while fishing on Lake Amnicon, near here, the Superior lad caught a 12-pound muskie. After bringing the giant to gaff and stringing him, the youthful Watson attempted to lift his prize from the water to display him to a passing fisherman. The muskie flopped, broke the string and was gone. Buster jumped into the water, grabbed the fish in his arms, and after wrestling with him for a few minutes brought him to the boat where he was again landed.

JOHN D. DENIES DODGING TAXES

By Associated Press

New York—Sale of John D. Rockefeller's four homes to his son, John D. Rockefeller Jr., is announced, but vigorous denial is made that the purpose is to avoid heavy inheritance taxes which would be levied if the son were to come into possession of the homes after the father's death.

The properties involved are a 2,300-acre estate at Pocantico hills, Tarrytown, N. Y., a town house in New York City, a country estate at Lockwood, N. J., and a winter home at Ormonde Beach, Fla.

At the office of Ivy L. Lee, counsel for public relations, for the Rockefeller family, it was said Friday: "The price paid in round figures for the four pieces of property was more than $3,000,000. The property was not sold to evade the inheritance tax or the gift tax as suggested. The money was paid in cash."

BAR OHIO INSURANCE FIRM FROM WISCONSIN

By Associated Press

Madison—The American Insurance Union, Columbus, O., a fraternal society, has been ordered to cease writing insurance in Wisconsin. W. Stanley Smith, insurance commissioner, announced Saturday.

The refusal to grant the company a license came following a hearing before the insurance commission Friday on the investment by the society of more than 20 per cent of its assets in a home office building, which is contrary to Wisconsin law.

The testimony showed that on Dec. 31, 1924 the society's admitted assets amounted to $3,094,482.67. Commissioner Smith said in a letter to former Congressman John J. Lentz, president of the society, and that the cost of the 37-story home office building now in the course of construction together with the cost of these it will approximate $4,400,000.

BRITISH UNIONS BACK MINERS IN WAGE FIGHT

By Associated Press

London—The general council of trade unions' congress Saturday issued a manifesto endorsing the refusal of the Miners' federation to meet the owners' proposal to lower wages and the Congress pledged assistance to the miners in every way.

The refusal of the miners to meet the operators until the proposals are withdrawn virtually ends the efforts toward mediation that have been conducted by the first lord of the admiralty, W. C. Bridgeman. The Baldwin government is expected to begin an inquiry into the whole question of the mining dispute.

TEN FARMERS, MENTOR, CLERK COMPOSE JURY

Prosecution and Defense Counsel Marshal Ranks for Monday's Work

SEEK TO BAR SAVANTS

Attorney General States Trial Will Settle Only Scopes' Guilt

By Associated Press

Dayton, Tenn.—With the first preliminary steps cleared away, including the selection of a jury, counsel for both the defense and prosecution in the Scopes evolution case Saturday planned conferences to consider the next move in the game of legal chess. No session of the trial was scheduled Saturday, the defense having asked a day to consider angles of its case.

The jury is composed of ten farmers, one school teacher and farmer combined and one shipping clerk. Only one is not a church member.

With indications of a battle in the offing, the defense meeting was to determine on what grounds it would base its plea for admission into the evidence the testimony of experts along scientific and religious lines tempting to show that the theory of with the announced intention of evolution was not in conflict with the biblical account of creation.

PREPARE FOR ATTACK

While they were seeking a firm basis for their contention that such testimony would be relevant, prosecution attorneys were drawing up their battle lines to withstand the expected attack.

Indications Saturday were that they would attempt to have the testimony introduced as matter for the information of the presiding judge, to be dealt with afterwards as he sees fit.

Prosecution attorneys on the other hand, consider the case one in which only the question of whether or not John Thomas Scopes taught that man descended from a lower form of animal was at issue.

CLASH MONDAY

The administration of the oath to the jury Monday followed by the reading of the indictment and the arraignment of the defendant will bring the opposing counsel together for their first real clash in the trial.

In a statement to the Associated Press Friday night, the defense said the state has made known its position concerning the competency of the proposed evidence of scientists tending to show that there is no conflict between evolution and the Bible. I think it but right that our position should also be definitely stated and that it might be understood that we intend to back our position as vigorously as we know how.

Continuing, he declared it to be his understanding that Scopes would not deny he taught to high school students that man descended from a lower order of animal.

"SAVANTS CAN'T SAVE HIM"
"If this be true," he said, "he is guilty of violation of the law and all the evidence of scientists within his reach cannot save him. The law, it self says that it shall not be taught to the students in the public schools that man descended from a lower order of animals." Whether or not scientists might be brought into court, to expound the belief that man descended from a lower order of animal by the process of God's creation, he felt would make no difference, declaring the laws says such cannot be taught.

Production of expert witnesses by both sides, he said, would lead to "a never-ending proposition and would in the end be but a battle of tongues."

The statement of the attorney general came Friday night at the conclusion of the first day's proceedings.

Former Appleton Man Given Two Year Term for Forgery in Canada

John F. Pooley, former Appleton man who has established quite a record for crime and jail terms within the last 13 years has been imprisoned again. Word was received here Friday that Pooley was sentenced at Toronto, Ontario, to two years in the Kingston, Ont., penitentiary.

Appleton police traced Pooley to Toronto for Chicago police who wanted the man on a charge of fraud, but Toronto authorities death with him first on two separate charges of forgery. He is now serving a concurrent sentence on the two counts. Sentence was pronounced Tuesday, July 7.

Pooley's criminal career began at Appleton in 1912 when he was arrested here for embezzlement and sentenced to Waupun for four years but was subsequently pardoned by the governor. Three years later he was arrested here again for forgery and took a 5 year sentence to Waupun but had his sentence changed to parole. Four years later he was arrested here for the third time for violating his parole and again went to Waupun for three years. Last year in June he was arrested in Elkhart, Ind. for forgery and was given a sentence from two to fourteen years in the state penitentiary, but his sentence was suspended on payment of $220.15, evidently the settlement for the money he had taken illegally. GREEN BAY BOARD BILL JUMPER ARRESTED HERE

The alleged failure of one Floyd McDonald to pay his board bill at a boarding house in Green Bay caused Green Bay authorities to begin a city-to-city search for the man. He was arrested in Appleton Friday afternoon by Detective Matthew McGinnis. The man was employed as truck driver for an Appleton firm. McDonald was turned over to Deputy Sheriff Peter G. Bosch of Brown-co.

THREE CHICAGO YOUTHS STILL HELD BY POLICE

Appleton police are still holding three Chicago youths, William Janczalk, 16, Herbert Hoff, 19, and Henry Miller, 17, who were detained here Thursday on suspicion of taking a car without the owner's consent. Their story of taking a small touring car in which they were driving with permission of the owner in Chicago was doubted by the police. They were speeding on St. Oneda-st. at the time they were picked up Thursday.

Mrs. John Dietzler, Green Bay, formerly of Appleton, and her son Junior stopped off in Appleton Tuesday to visit friends before continuing on an extended trip through the west covering Minneapolis, Minn., Baker, Mont., and Sentinel Butte, N. Dak. At the last mentioned place they will visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Hardy. Mrs. Hardy formerly was Miss Maymie Kelley of Appleton.

May Wirth and her open air "Dressing Room"

Kings and queens of the circus don't mind life on the road nowadays. Traveling with a giant organization like Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey combined, that boasts more than four extra length railroad trains, is a far cry from the little wagon show that bumped its way over the rough country roads a quarter of a century ago.

The stars of the sandst world do not envy the railroad president his palatial private car. They almost pity the average mortal who is forced to ride in an ordinary Pullman, so splendidly are their own trains fitted with conveniences.

On the circus lot the leading performers are likewise favored. If one is lucky enough to be ushered behind the mysterious red curtains, he will see almost a dozen gayly-decorated little tents, or "tops" as the circus people call them. These are the private dressing and rest rooms of the stars.

One of the biggest of the "special section" departments is that allotted to the great Nelson family of world famous acrobats. This troupe consist of father, mother, seven daughters and a son. Their costumes alone occupy eleven trunks.

Another special tent, divided into several sections, is that used by the wild west contingent of the big double circus. This tent houses thirty men and women who do nothing with the circus save give rough-riding exhibitions. There is a separate tent for their fifty horses.

Among the most artistic and, at the same time comfortable of the smaller tents, are those occupied by May Wirth, greatest of all onersaulting equestriennes; and Lilly Litwoll, aerial queen of the circus. The tents contain wardrobe, trunks, a dressing table and chairs. Dainty crotone covering give the boudoir touch so dear to the feminine heart. Under the marquee in front are steamer chairs and hammock, where the artists rest after their strenuous performance.

The big circus with its scores of features, hundreds of performers, including the stars with their private dressing "tops," will come here Wednesday, July 29.

KEEN ORIENTAL WINS RACE FOR LUSTROUS PEARL

Jewel of 26 3/4 Carats, Worth 600,000 Francs, Bought for 100,000 Francs

By Associated Press
Papeete, Tahiti—What undoubtedly is the largest and most valuable pearl ever discovered in the South Pacific was brought to Tahiti from the Gambier Islands, its weight is 26 3/4 carats. The coloring is very brilliant, with green and golden hues predominating. One hemisphere of the pearl is marked by two distinct iridescent bands, which give the jewel, on that side, somewhat the appearance of the planet Saturn encompassed by its rings.

When the news of the finding of this pearl reached Tahiti, the European buyers who make Papeete their headquarters during the diving season braced to take the pearl to the Gambiers, distant nearly 1,000 miles, only to find on their arrival there that the pearl was at sea in the possession of a Chinese trader, who had purchased it from the native diver and was bringing it to Tahiti. The price paid to the native is said to have been 110,000 francs. Experts at Papeete who have examined the jewel appraise its value at from 500,000 to 600,000 francs.

An unusual number of fine pearls have been found in the islands during the diving season just past. Lagoons closed for many years had been opened for diving, and it was from them that the most valuable pearls were taken.

Many years ago the Gambier Islands were a center of great importance in the South Seas. From the lagoons came the most valuable shell and the choicest pearls. That was before the days of restriction on pearl diving, and the lagoons were stripped year after year until they became fished out and trade drifted to other quarters.

During the last 10 or 15 years the Gambiers have been the least visited islands in the eastern Pacific. Before the French took over the islands the French were ruled by missionaries of the Church of Rome. Under their direction the natives built a cathedral of heavy masonry, the altar of which is inlaid in many designs in mother-of-pearl, the figures of the Virgin and saints being adorned with the finest pearls. In the crown of the Virgin is a priceless pearl, said to be the most beautiful jewel ever found in the South Seas. But rumor has it that long ago the real pearl was taken to Europe and that the pearl now in the crown is only an imitation.

About the cathedral are other buildings of massive masonry, a seminary, where all the young women were segregated whenever a ship came to the islands, and other ecclesiastical structures.

But of late years evil days have befallen the Gambiers. The population, which was numerous, has been waned

POWER ROLLER SMOOTHS BUMPS IN S. CHERRY-ST

S. Cherry-st and S. Adams-st were smoothed down Friday with the city power roller after they had received their first treatment of calcium chloride, a dust laying-chemical powder. It was expected that the roadway would be smoothed out considerably after this treatment, thus eliminating complaints which autoists have been making.

More than 100 bags of the chloride were spread for the first application, R. F. Hackworthy, street commissioner, states. This material has the same effect as oil in preventing dust. As soon as the dust begins to appear again, a second coating consisting of about 50 bags will be given. Later a third dressing of about 50 bags more will be applied. This treatment will make the roadway as good as pavement, the commissioner believes, and will make S. Cherry-st and S. Adams-st a much more favored route for traffic to Menasha and Neenah.

ECUADOR CACAO BUSINESS GROWS ON U. S. ORDERS

Nation Prospers as Americans Eat Chocolate Covered Ice Cream Confection

By Associated Press
New York—Ecuador is making a complete commercial come-back, the Foreign trade council reports, wholly because of the popularity in the United States of chocolate-covered ice cream confections.

The sudden vogue here for ice cream served in a chocolate jacket, the council says, placed chocolate overnight at a new premium the world over. This re-established the demand for Ecuador's agricultural product, cacao, from which the highest grade bitter chocolate comes, and lifted that country out of financial depression.

The chocolate boom, the council says, proved lucky for the United States as well as Ecuador, for it restored to the former one of its good customers of five years ago. Commerce between countries being a simple matter of give and take, Ecuador is now spending its chocolate money freely here again, notably for our player pianos.

That Ecuador "plays" when, as and if the United States "eats," does not constitute a comparison of tastes in the two countries, the council adds, so much as it reveals anew that foreign trade, after all, is pretty human.

Confectioners in the United States prefer the Ecuador grade of bitter chocolate both for its flavor and because it takes a lot of sugar, and thus enables them to market their sugar at the higher price of candy, according to the council.

Ecuador's principal competitor is the Congo, but the African cacao is called milder and is said to run second with the candy trade. When the World War shut off deep sea transportation the Congo's output was blockaded, to the advantage of Ecuador, but it meanwhile piled up in such volume that when ocean communication was opened again after the war it came in a flood and broke the market. Ecuador found its cacao selling at a loss or not at all, trade there was brought to a temporary standstill.

MOON EXPORTS
SHOW INCREASE
OF 50 PER CENTShipments During First Five Months of 1925 Greater Than 1924

Exports sales of Moon motor cars to foreign countries in the first five months of 1925 show a 50 per cent increase over export sales for the first five months of the year 1924 says Edw. H. Serrano, Export Manager of the Moon Motor Car Co.

In commenting upon the phenomenal increase in the export sales of Moon cars Mr. Serrano said "During the past five months we have shipped Moon cars to upwards of twenty foreign countries, the bulk of the shipments going to England, Australia, Argentina, and Poland. In the case of Poland we have shipped twenty cars to this country within the past sixty days the shipments being about equally divided between open and closed models.

A notable export sale was recently made in the purchase of a Moon car by Lucien Zivy, 10 Avenue Charles, Floquet, Paris, France, an official of the Compagnie Transatlantique, Havre, France. This car is a Moon Series "A" special two door Sedan and was chosen by Monsieur Lucien Zivy after an exhaustive study of American and foreign cars. France imposes a tax of 65 per cent on foreign cars but despite this tax there is a steadily increasing demand for Moon cars in France and the fact that so prominent a Frenchman has purchased a Moon car as his personal automobile is significant of the desire of French owners for a moderately priced fine car of distinction.

Moon South American export business is showing a decided improvement particularly in Argentina, Bolivia and Venezuela as our distributor organization there is efficient and well organized.

The German government restricts the importation of any one foreign manufacturer's cars to four cars per month however The North Western Motors, Ltd. of Liverpool, Moon distributors, reports much interest being shown in Moon cars Germany particularly in Stuttgart and Wiesbaden where races were recently held on dirt tracks.

The Mexican automobile situation is showing some improvement in fact we shipped two cars of Moon cars recently to Mexico despite the fact that it is reported that money for other lines of business there is scarce.

FORD OUTPUT IS 8,125 EACH DAYFigures Just Given Out at General Office Show Great Growth

World production of Ford cars and trucks is now averaging slightly above 8,125 a day, a daily output greater than at any previous time in the history of the Ford organization.

This is the astonishing record of Ford accomplishment as revealed in figures just given out at the general offices in Detroit covering the combined production of domestic assembly plants, foreign plants and associated companies and the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Ltd. It is not only significant as indicating the growth of the automobile industry both here and abroad, but it presents the world-wide acceptance of motor car transportation, for while domestic plants of the company have for the last few weeks been setting new production records, foreign plants also have attained to new marks.

Since the first of May the Ford assembly plants in the United States have been averaging a daily output of more than 7,200 cars and trucks and this in the face of several days when operations at one or more plants were more or less curtailed due to delays in arrival of parts.

During the same time plants in Europe and South America likewise set new records and these with the daily output of Ford of Canada, which supplied Canada and the British Colonial possessions, have added a daily average of 925 cars and trucks to the production figure bringing the total up above 8,125 a day.

On May 19, when the domestic plants went to the new high mark of 7,558 cars and trucks, foreign plants and the Canadian company produced 822, setting a record for all the remarkable total of 8,380 Ford cars and trucks.

WALTER P. CHRYSLER'S
TRAFFIC TALKS

Statistics recently made available by the United States Bureau of the Census for 1923 show these facts:

1. There are 47 cities having a population of from 15,000 to 16,500. This is the largest number in any one of the groups, ranging from 15,000 to 16,500, 16,500 to 18,500, 18,500 to 20,000, etc.

2. In the 12 cities of 50,000 and more population there is, of course, the largest population.

3. In the cities having more than 500,000 population there were 3,348 fatal accidents in 1923—the largest number in any one group—and in cities between 16,500 to 18,500 there were 117 accidents—the smallest number.

4. The cities between 22,500 and 25,000 population had the smallest number of fatal accidents—174 per 100,000 population, and the cities between 20,000 and 22,500 had the highest percentage, 25.9 per 100,000.

HEAVY DEMAND
SHOWN BY REO
SALES IN JUNENearly Double Figure of Same Month in Previous Year, Is Report

During the month of June, shipments from the Reo Motor Car Company were 96 per cent greater than shipments of June, 1924 and with these days, shipments are virtually sales, for the dealers are carrying no stocks of any size. They are ordering units as they need them.

Not only did June establish a very acceptable record for itself with Reo, but it also produced a large volume of advance business, which will be included in July deliveries. Reo entered July with more orders, even than it delivered in the month of June. This is practically assurance that the present month will be another big one for the Lansing manufacturer.

Reo's plan of closing its entire plant for two weeks in the summer for inventory without disturbing the usual production methods will not be followed this year. In some departments, at least it will be impossible to suspend operations, with the demand for Reo products at its present height.

The new Heavy Duty Speed Wagon, in production only since the middle of June, is showing signs of becoming a leader along with the well known Model F Speed Wagon. Both the Series G Sedan and the Series G Coupe are enjoying great popularity, although other models in the Reo passenger car line are being sold as fast as they are produced.

Bus business is good with Reo, also, and the bus plant will be one of the production units in which the two-week inventory period will have to be given up so far as suspending operations is concerned.

Because of the continued healthy condition of Reo dealers, it is believed that the factory will have to remain on an increased production schedule for some months to come. However, the output from week to week is being kept safely within the demands for the various types of passenger and commercial cars, and all there is being used to prevent manufacture from exceeding demand.

FORD NOW OFFERS
CAB FOR TRUCKS

A closed cab, is the latest equipment offered by the Ford Motor Company for the Ford ton truck. The new cab, which is all-steel, affords complete protection for the driver and is adaptable for use with standard Ford truck bodies, both the express and the stake types.

Doors of the cab are exceptionally wide and the plate glass windows in the doors may be lowered. The upper portion of the windshield swings either in or out so as to suit ventilation requirements. The seat accommodates three persons comfortably and there are special springs in both the seat and back cushions. Panels in the back of the cab may be easily removed to permit access to the truck body.

A combined priming and carburetor adjusting rod is now standard on all Ford closed cars, and is being furnished without extra cost. Where formerly the driver primed from the instrument board and adjusted the carburetor from the dash beneath, both operations may now be performed from the same accessory on the instrument board.

Ford owners who desire to "dress up" their cars with nickel-plated radiator shells and headlamp doors may now secure these accessories from Ford dealers. This equipment is being supplied by the Ford Motor Company to authorized dealers through-

MILLER RUBBER
CHIEF HAS PART
IN TAX ACTIVITYJacob Pfeiffer of Akron Points
Out Concern Pays 23 Kinds of Tax

Probably as far reaching a movement as has been inaugurated in many a year is one now under way to form a national organization known as "The Taxpayers' Union" to which may belong all of the voters of the country who will pay nominal dues proportionate to their incomes or profits for the support of this organization, the purpose of which is to reduce unnecessary taxes. Prominently identified with the movement is Jacob Pfeiffer, President of the Miller Rubber Company of Akron, Ohio, who, in an article published recently in Nation's Business, official publication of the United States Chamber of Commerce, Washington, D. C., pointed out that the concern of which he is the head pays twenty-three kinds of taxes.

In this article he points out that other industries and businesses of the country are in the same position as The Miller Company, paying more than a score of taxes, direct and indirect, federal, state, municipal and county. To remedy this condition and to actually reduce the unnecessary taxes carried on the payrolls of the nation it is proposed that the Taxpayers' Union be formed.

Experts will direct the budget, research, legal, publicity and other departments in carrying on the work of co-operating with all tax organizations including state, county and city throughout the country. The Taxpayers' Union will in reality be a clearing house for the collaboration and condensation of data and for the preparation of this material in proper form for all allied groups. There, much duplication of effort, time and money will be prevented. All men and women in the country have been invited to join in this great movement to help reduce the high cost of living due to unnecessary taxation.

The organization will be absolutely non-partisan aiming to direct its sole effort to reduce unnecessary taxes. It is a big job and worthy the efforts of the best experts backed by people in all walks of life.

The objects of the organization are cited as follows:

1. To reduce and eliminate unnecessary taxation.

2. To inform its members how unnecessary and impractical tax laws tend to destroy property, liberty and civilization itself.

3. To inform members how various taxes effect their daily life.

4. To inform its members why certain tax laws should be repealed or amended.

5. To report to its members proposed tax laws and explain their purpose and effect as determined by economic experts.

6. To explain to its members how taxes, DIRECT AND INDIRECT, effect wages and the income of all men and women.

7. To explain to its members how public money is spent in a useless, unnecessary and extravagant manner and what should be done to stop it and at the same time reduce taxes, eliminate duplication and increase governmental efficiency.

8. To inform its members as to the attitude of candidates for office in the matter of taxation and the reduction of governmental expenditures.

9. To notify its members when proposed public jobs are unnecessary or extravagantly planned, and to use its best efforts, that all public work is done as contracted for, free from speculation or fraud.

10. To provide special rates for the purchase of standard books on taxation and economics and to call attention to publications of merit dealing with such matters.

11. To reduce and eliminate unnecessary taxation.

NEW SALES MARKReports from Dealers Indicate
Greatest Demand in History

Announcement by J. E. Fields, vice president in charge of the sales department of the Chrysler Motor Corporation, shows that retail sales by this company's dealer organization are greater than ever before in the history of the company.

Retail sales reported for the week ending June 13th were 55 per cent greater than for the same week a year ago, an average increase which has been maintained constantly for the past two months. Analysis of the sales curve as charted by the department, based on territory reports by the wholesale organization, indicates a steadily increasing demand from the field which has more than tripled in volume since January.

Mr. Fields also announces the fact that the concern of which he is the head pays twenty-three kinds of taxes.

In this article he points out that other industries and businesses of the country are in the same position as The Miller Company, paying more than a score of taxes, direct and indirect, federal, state, municipal and county. To remedy this condition and to actually reduce the unnecessary taxes carried on the payrolls of the nation it is proposed that the Taxpayers' Union be formed.

PROTECTING THE DAIRY INDUSTRY

The recent legislature passed a law to stop the sale and consumption of oleomargarine in Wisconsin. The law is a frank concession to the dairy interests for protection against this competition.

The Post-Crescent has a high regard for the dairying business of Wisconsin. It is its chief industry and is the cornerstone of our agricultural solidity. It is the greatest single contributor to our prosperity, and it is essential that it should thrive. That it has thrived is proven by the fact that Wisconsin is the first dairying state of the Union. It has reached this enviable position in the face of competition from butter substitutes.

It is a question whether the bill enacted by the legislature prohibiting the sale of oleomargarine is of economic benefit to Wisconsin. Butter and other dairy products are marketed for a good price. On the whole, the market is well sustained. If the dairying interests are to profit by this legislation it will be through higher prices for their products. Naturally, if butter substitutes are not available to the consumer, butter prices will rise.

On the average, the price of oleomargarine is at least 20 cents per pound less than good butter. Many persons like oleomargarine and it is used extensively in cooking. Farmers themselves buy it. Its purity and its food value are established. It has a large sale, especially among those who are trying to keep down the high cost of living.

The law raises the old question as to which is entitled to the greater consideration, the interests of the consumer or the producer. Viewed from the standpoint of selfish state interests, we of course have a right to prohibit the sale of oleomargarine in behalf of our chief industry. It is the time-honored use of political authority to eliminate competition and foster industry. Whether we have applied this practice soundly in the instance we are discussing remains to be seen. If the people are deprived of butter substitutes, they will be compelled to pay a heavy tax to the dairying industry. Whether this tax would be justified in view of the extraordinary development and established prosperity of dairying is a question.

THE GOVERNOR TURNS SPHINX

A question aimed at Governor Blaine has been rolling around the state of Wisconsin for many months. It involves the integrity of our institutions. It is of the utmost importance.

Why did Governor Blaine before the legislature met appoint several of its members to positions of public trust and honor?

The fact that the governor did so appoint members to such position has created indignation, not only among the people generally, but among the many followers of Senator La Follette whose standard of political life has been principle and not chicanery in public office. In the face of a practically unanimous public condemnation of his act, the governor has elected to remain mute. The question cannot be ignored by silence. It will not down. It is a valid indictment of an improper system of politics.

Is there any other answer to the question than that the governor intended by the presentation of these political plums to members of the legislature to influence or control their votes and thus deprive the people of their otherwise independent judgment on administration measures? It is a fact that the legislators so appointed with one notable exception adhered to the Blaine machine through storm and sunshine. That exception, Senator Titus of Fond du Lac,—and his name should not be forgotten,—sensing the purpose of an appointment, returned the plum to the governor and publicly denounced the Blaine system.

The people in their constitution created the office of governor and gave it certain powers. By the same instrument they created the legislature and gave it certain powers.

Every effort that human foresight and ingenuity could conceive was made by the people to keep the legislative branch of the government independent of the executive, to prevent either from influencing or controlling the other. If the governor can crack the whip and control the legislature there may as well be no legislature. Our form of government cannot thrive if the governor is empowered to still the voice of legislators by filling their mouths with favors.

It does not require a very high regard of the governor's mentality to concede him sufficient shrewdness to understand that when he appointed these legislators to positions of public honor and responsibility, some of which control the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars of public funds, he tied their hands.

Were the appointments made expressly for that purpose,—and what other purpose can there be?—they exhibit vicious attack upon the spirit of our laws and our institutions.

In every form of government integrity of public officials is a necessity in accomplishing the purposes of government itself. We dare say that no government has failed merely through the error of judgment or foresight alone of those who were administering it. The people of a state do not expect perfection from their public servants and generally take in good part mistakes made without intention. The policies of an administration must rest upon merit and not influence. Influence, whether of the kind exerted by the oil magnates upon Ex-Secretary Fall in the notorious "loan" of $100,000.00, or indirectly, by appointment to attractive positions, is always sinister. Influence is never government.

The use of influence concedes an inability to otherwise convince and a hopeless unworthiness in the cause presented.

When the governor of a state appoints legislators, the very judges of his policies, and who are about to approve or disapprove of them, to important positions on the eve of their decision, he must do so in a spirit of recklessness with the conviction that the voting public is so blind or unconcerned with its government that he can do almost anything and survive.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

HONESTLY, HOW DO YOU?

A year or two ago, a reader reminds us, we promised to tell how a mere layman might diagnose his own health.

Right, and a week or two later we told how the trick is done. Of course, a mere layman's diagnosis of anything is about as sound as is my knowledge of how to fill a root canal or take up a camshaft bearing. At that, though, a layman can make a fairly good tentative analysis of his own health. A tentative diagnosis is like a mail order suit; you are not bound to keep it if it doesn't fit and give entire satisfaction. Indeed, the layman client contributes considerable to the diagnosis in the modern periodic health examination; in some of the forms or examination blanks which have been suggested by physicians who devote special attention to the practice of hygiene, the layman apparently contributes more than the hygienist himself to the diagnosis, but perhaps that is because the hygienist who devises the form of examination has not had sufficient experience in the practice of health.

Here is one test of health which anybody up to the age of 50 years may try on himself: Run a mile. If you can't run a mile, at your own pace, you are certainly not well—you had better consult a physician and let him find out what ails you.

Here is another test which anybody of any age may try on himself: Hold your breath on the one hand and your watch on the other. If you can't hold the former 40 seconds you had better consult a good doctor.

Suppose an individual has a "leakage" of the heart, valvular disease, which has developed insidiously or at least without his knowledge that any heart lesion is responsible for his falling off in physical or mental efficiency. If the backflow or leakage through the damaged valve is not compensated by the necessary development of heart muscle, such an individual will be unable to hold his breath as long as 40 seconds—he will "break" and grab in more air at perhaps 25 or 30 seconds or even less. If his valvular leakage is "compensated" by the necessary overdevelopment of the heart muscle (so enough blood is pumped to satisfy the requirements in spite of the amount which leaks back through the valve at every beat), why, the lucky lad can hold his breath as long as any of us, and his health is O. K., notwithstanding the valvular impairment.

There are some individuals who can easily hold their breath a full minute without any tricks. They are not necessarily healthier than the rest of us by reason of that.

There are some individuals whose health is gravely impaired, who are suffering with serious disease, yet can hold their breath 40 seconds. That would seem to spoil the test as a measure of health. But I told you at the outset that the layman can make only a tentative diagnosis of his own health; he needs the co-operation of the expert if he wishes to have his diagnosis confirmed. A dead man, for instance, might hold his breath for hours or days without any effort.

If you consider yourself very much alive but have no convenient place to run off your mile test, here is a test which is almost as good, so far as the efficiency of your circulation may be concerned: Run up two flights of stairs, two stairs at a step, and notice your heart action when you attain the summit; if your heart is efficient, you'll feel the thump, thump against your ribs as the acceleration induced by the effort passes and the heart rate again slows down to the ordinary rate. If you do not feel the thump, thump, you are not as sound as you really ought to be.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Infantile Paralysis

Our little boy, aged 10 years, fell on the ice striking the back of his head and shortly afterward fell on a tire iron and struck his hip. Would these injuries have any connection with bringing on infantile paralysis? (Mrs. G. C.)

Answer.—No. Infantile paralysis (acute poliomyelitis) is an infectious disease, spread from case to case directly or through the agency of a human or animate carrier.

Gold Lust

A sermon prepared especially for the Post-Crescent by the Rev. F. C. Reuter, pastor of First English Lutheran church.

Well has the poet said, "Life is real, life is earnest. And the grave is not its goal. Dust thou art, to dust thou'rt." Was not spoken of the soul?

Has the greatness of life dawned upon you? Has the reality and earnestness of life become a deep conviction? Why am I in this world, is a most important question, yet one that some never answer.—Man's mission is not only to do one thing but the right thing. Life is not big enough to lay hold of two or more things so why not lay hold of the greatest, the best of all? Why not lay hold of "the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus" which is eternal life?

Ere covetousness.—Certain members in the Ephesian congregation were setting their minds on earthly things, striving for political and financial gain, especially the latter. The apostle Paul urged Timothy, his son in the faith and pastor of that congregation, not to be concerned about political and financial gain but to seek and gain godliness and there-with be content. "Timothy, stick to your business, which is godliness, practical religion, for this is the business of everyone that accepts Christ in the faith."

The great complaint made against many church members is that they are too much concerned about the odds and ends of life, especially money. The charge is covetousness, the eager desires and craving to gain. What is the situation? Do not the finances of congregations, the attendance at services, the laxity and negligence on the part of members in all lines of church work bear out this complaint? The heart cannot be neutral. We are either for Christ or against Him, for the church or against it. We are dependent creatures that we must give up ourselves and all that we have to the service of sin or godliness. Considering the actions of many church people, by what they do for Christ or against Him, we realize the great need of emphasizing the warning of Scriptures, "Beware covetousness."

RICHES NO SIN

Wealth is not to be despised; it is no sin to save riches; but it is sin where riches have the man. Money is the root of all evil. It is hard for the rich man to value God above his riches.

It is impossible to set the heart upon riches and upon godliness at the same time. If God has blessed us with wealth let us show our gratitude by consecrating our wealth to the service of God and our fellowmen. As long as we have faith let us be content for we have the greatest of all. We came into the world with nothing and as we came so we leave. What we have here was given to us here and is to be used as a means to an end, to serve. If we've owned the whole United States; yes, even the whole world and had not godliness we would be a most miserable people. What would be our profit if we gained the whole world and cost our souls? Achan, Dives, Judas, Ananias and Sapphira coveted the filthy lucre, pierced their souls and weighted with the money bag, went down to perdition and destruction. The love of money is no stronger in the home, in the store and even in the church pew.

The God who loves us, who is the Giver of every good and perfect gift has no desire that these earthly gifts should prove the soul's undoing. God has not given us these gifts for us to set our hearts upon them. He has better and greater things for us and hence the warning to flee covetousness. So then get away from evil and to God in prayer—to Him who has peace and happiness for the soul—to Him who has eternal life. Armed by faith and winged by prayer let us of us take all and go to Jesus. Like the dweller flees the burning building having all behind to save his life, let us by the grace of God flee covetousness to save a soul. Take heed and beware of covetousness; for a man's life consists not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth.

Follow after godliness.—It is evident from our text and from the experience of all God's people that if we flee the lusts of the world and follow after godliness we will have to fight. Every Christian is a soldier and will fight the good fight of faith. But this he cannot do unless he enter the race, the fight with all his heart and soul. There can be no divided heart in the fight of faith. The Captain of our salvation demands the whole heart or none. "If Christ is not valued above all He is not valued at all."

MUST BE WARRIOR

The Christian's warfare is unique. He fights not against flesh and blood but against the power of evil. Against such foes he cannot fight with man power but with the power of the Spirit. The fiery darts of the wicked, the dart of covetousness can be quenched by the shield of faith. The Captain has commanded his soldiers to flee covetousness and all evil, but He has also equipped His warriors so that by His grace they can withstand the forces of evil and hold the place of grace.

Follow after godliness, lay hold on eternal life. Believe that there is such a thing and make it yours through faith. One of the first works of God's grace is to put eternal life within us. Like our physical life, so the spiritual life must be imparted by God. Through faith in Christ man becomes a new creature and a follower after godliness. That is our calling—for that purpose God created us and through that faith which is ours by grace we will make a good profession before many witnesses.

We will never do much in the Lord's business unless by God's grace we answer the call to godliness. Sinner, as you strive for the things that perish, for money and material things may God's call to godliness come to you and cause you to flee from evil to Him, before you perish with your riches. When we are tempted to gain by sin urged on by the love of money, may we hear the voice of the Captain say, "Lay hold on eternal life."

The Question Box

Even Uncle Sam is inquisitive. Just now he is trying to discover the most popular sizes of women's stockings, the chewing power of false teeth, whether a solar eclipse interferes with radio, and how tough beef is. These are but a few of the many problems the Bureau of Standards is working on. This branch of the Government, as well as all the other departments, is constantly engaged in research and investigations that will benefit the American citizen. Our Washington Bureau is in a position to reach these great resources of service and information gathered by the Federal Government and pass them on to you. This service is free. Q. What is the name of the poem which begins "The sun stepped down from his golden throne"? D. K.

A. This is the opening line of "The Star and the Water Lily" by Longfellow.

Q. What acid do you put on a tree stump to bring out the rings so they can be counted? L. L. B.

A. The Forest Service says that it has not heard of the use of acid for the purpose of calculating the age rings of a tree; however, by taking sandpaper and sandpapering the stump thoroughly to a smooth surface and using a magnifying glass you can see the age rings clearly enough to determine the age of the tree.

Q. What material can be used as an insulator between two magnetic points? J. T. W.

A. There is no known insulator for magnetism.

Q. Did England offer a bounty to men who would fight against the colonies? S. E.

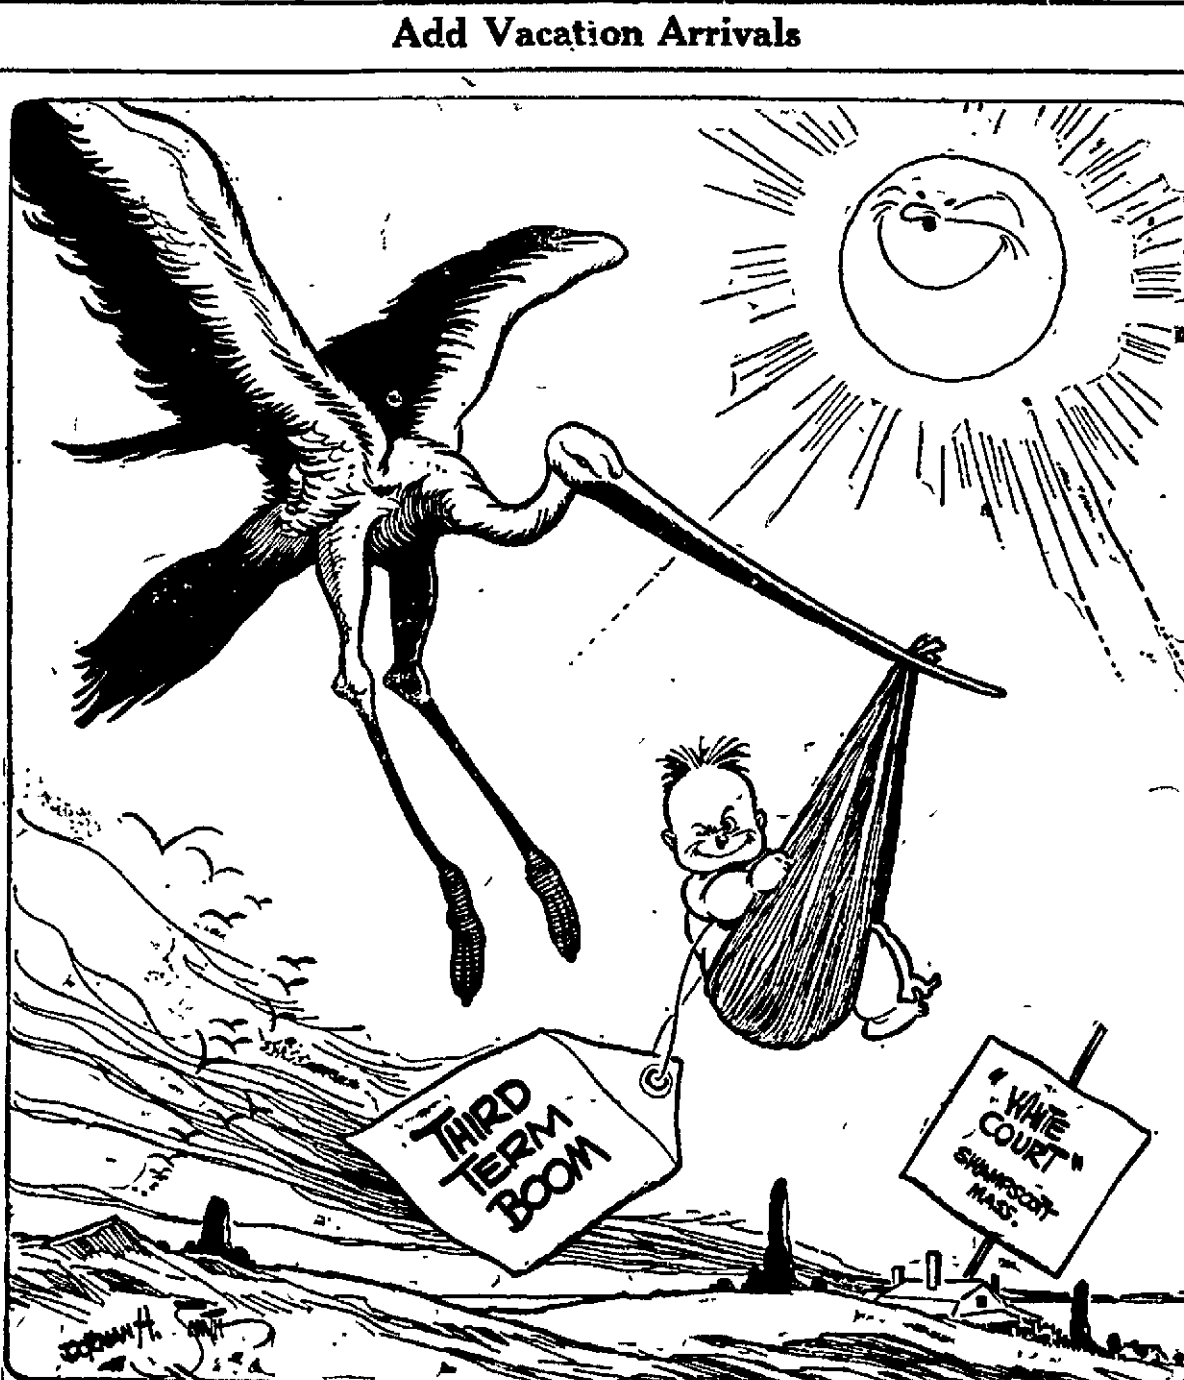

A. She offered ten pounds. Congress gave the Continental Army small grants of land and money, but in 1780 affairs came to such a pass that General Washington offered $200 to retain each of his veterans and when Army disbanded in 1783, he induced Congress to give the officers five years pay.

Q. Is it the freezing or thawing process which causes pipes to burst? R. M. D.

A. The Bureau of Standards says that it is the freezing process that causes pipes to burst. The bursting is due to the expansion the water undergoes when changing into ice.

Q. Where is the largest peach orchard? O. W. H.

A. The Bureau of Plant Industry knows of no larger peach orchard either in the world or in the United States than the Highland Orchard in southwestern Arkansas.

Girls Must Know Lore To Advance

Appleton girl scouts who go to the Appleton Womens club camp at Onaway Island, Waupaca, will have plenty of opportunity to pass the scout tests which will make them first class scouts because of the abundance of natural resources at the Chain of Lakes. The national girl scout organization is divided into various ranks and classes, the rank of a scout depending upon how much nature lore she has learned.

A tenderfoot is the lowest rank in the girl scout organization. To qualify for the rank of tenderfoot the girl must be able to describe in detail an animal or pet, telling its color, family, habits, where it is found, and other detailed information. The rank above that of tenderfoot is that of second class scout. The candidate for second scout must be able to tell the important facts and characteristics of any three of the following: eight rocks or minerals, eight insects, five wild plants and five cultivated plants, seven trees and three shrubs, four birds, three land animals, three water animals, and five stars. To be an observer, the next rank above that of second class scout, two additional groups must be learned in addition to the three learned to become a second class scout.

The first class scout work requires a thorough and knowledge in any one of the following natural fields: trees, flowers, land animals, water animals, birds, insects, rocks, or stars. To earn the rank of rambler the girl must have a thorough knowledge in two additional fields of nature in addition to the one she has learned to become a first class scout.

A naturalist is the highest rank a girl scout can obtain. To get this rank she must have a very complete and almost professional knowledge of any one of the following professions: forester, expert on flowerless plants, gardening, zoologist, ornithologist, entomologist, bee culture, farmer, geologist, or astronomer. The rank of naturalist is won by comparatively few girls and is obtained only after years of hard work.

In the scout service a second class scout helps prepare a tenderfoot, an observer helps a second class scout, a first class scout helps to prepare an observer, a rambler aids a first class scout, and a naturalist helps prepare a rambler. Merit badges are awarded to observers, rambles, and naturalists.

WOMEN OFFENDERS BEST REPEATERS IN BRITAIN

London—The most habitual offenders against the laws of Great Britain are women, according to the report of the commissioners of prisons and the directors of convict prisons for 1924. No fewer than 7,258 out of the 8,801 women received into prison in the year had been convicted before, or 83 percent, compared with 62 percent of the men. More than 1,000 women had been convicted 1 to 20 times and 2,556 more than 20 times.

The report also shows that the total number of prisoners received under sentence was 58,216 compared with 60,532 for the preceding year, a decrease of 2,616. At the convict prisons 466 persons were sentenced to penal servitude in 1924 as against 495 for the previous year.

Referring to the general conduct of prisoners in all establishments, the commissioners say there is no doubt that there is a different tone in the prison population of today, due partly to the fact that the majority of the persons received are of a less violent type than formerly but due also to a change in the attitude of the authorities towards the prisoners which tends to bring about a better spirit in the prison communities.

Those who desire to join and have no enrollment card may obtain one by notifying Mrs. George Hogreiver. The auxiliary hopes to have the biggest membership in its history after the campaign is ended.

FINGERPRINT SYSTEM INFALLIBLE, CLAIM

By Associated Press
London.—C. S. Collins, superintendent of the identification bureau of Scotland Yard, who has made nearly 500,000 finger prints, of criminals and suspects, retired recently after 39 years' in the London police department.

Service from the finger prints on file in Mr. Collins' department some 260,000 identifications have been made, according to the authorities, without a single mistake. "I would stake my life on the probability that there never will be finger prints alike, even if the world goes on indefinitely," Mr. Collins said recently in speaking of his work. During the next generation, he asserted, finger prints would be much more generally used everywhere, not only in the identification of criminals, but as a matter of record in births, and numerous other directions.

PROSPERITY TURNS HEADS OF NATIVES

By Associated Press
London—Some of the natives in Uganda, East Africa, have become so prosperous selling cotton lately that they have forgotten nearly all about clothing and invest their incomes on bicycles, bright-colored beads, and numerous other novelties from abroad. William G. A. Ormsby-Gore, under secretary for the colonies, told the African society in London at a dinner.

Mr. Ormsby-Gore was a member of a parliamentary delegation which visited East Africa last year and was describing some of the experiences of the London party. Incidentally, he considers Uganda a natural cotton-growing country and he said, "probably the best in the world, the southern states of America not excepted." Many natives, the "nouveau riches," he called them, had become troublesome, due to their prosperity, and insisted upon buying luxuries instead of necessities.

VIOLATIONS OF TRAFFIC LAWS BOOSTS ARRESTS

Number of "Pinches" in June
Double the Average for the Last Few Years

Arrests are constantly on the increase, it is seen from the monthly reports of the police department. This does not mean that crime is rampant in Appleton, for most of the arrests are due to minor offenses, such as violations of traffic rules.

Several years ago the most frequent cause for arrest was drunkenness. Later arrests for speeding and for violation of the prohibition laws were numerous. Now the majority of arrests are those for breaking traffic rules, such as speeding, wrong parking, blocking of an alley, making a left or "U" turn, ignoring an arterial highway, drunken driving, operating a car without a license, driving without using a mirror, disobeying automatic signal lights.

Of the 60 arrests made last month, which is double the monthly average of former years—at least 50 had to do with traffic law violations. The May report also made public at this time attributes 36 of the 47 arrests to traffic law violations.

The May arrests were as follows: Drunkenness 2, breaking arterial highway law 12, speeding 13, disorderly conduct 2, violation of the game laws 2, using false weights 1, larceny 2, drunken driving 2, reckless driving 1, wrong parking 1, operating car without license 5, embezzlement 1, lack of muffler 1, ignoring automatic traffic signal 1, issuing a wrong traffic signal 1, issuing worthless checks 1.

Arrests in June were as follows: Ignoring traffic light 2, using abusive language 2, speeding 12, violations of arterial highway law 20, operating motor vehicles without license 8, blocking alley 1, bastardy 1, drunkenness 3, drunken driving 3, making loud and boisterous noise 1, issuing bad checks 1, making "U" turn 4, incorrigibility 1, feeble minded 1.

The ambulance made six trips covering a total of 22 miles in June and the touring car made 693 miles in 149 trips. In May the ambulance covered 13 miles while the touring car made 839 miles in 116 trips.

Growth Of City Has Added To Burden Of Tax Assessor

Appleton "ain't what she used to be" when it comes to the task of assessing her property, sighed Albert C. Rule, city assessor, as he worked busily at his desk at the city hall trying to run a race with the calendar so his work would be done in time for the meeting of the board of review on July 20. If the city hadn't grown like a healthy youngster he wouldn't have half the troubles that beset him, he says.

It might appear from the fact that the board of review had to wait three weeks extra for the records that Mr. Rule was taking his time with the work or was slow, but there's a heap of other reasons which he unfolded to the newspaper reporter.

WORK HAS DOUBLED

First he proved in a graphic way how the personal property assessments of the city have more than doubled. He piled the bundles of blanks for the year 1924 on the table and then stacked those of 1925 alongside. The latter stack was twice as high as the former. The 1925 pile will be much bigger, he says. About five years ago he assessed 1,100 automobiles. Now he has 3,768 to enter on the tax roll.

Next he brought out the platbooks to show how progress adds to work. Sections of the city that were vacant fields owned by one of two persons now are split up into hundreds of lots, each to be assessed by itself where only a few entries were required before. Hundreds of houses have gone up in the last few years, so these also have to be looked after.

As illustrations he showed how Bellaire-ct required only two assessments when he first became assessor. With the erection of houses and sale of lots the number now is 44. Clark's addition once had a single assessment. Now it has 50 owners of lots. Highland Park addition likewise was one assessment but platting now means one-hundred seven there. Fairview Heights has changed from one assessment to fifty-five entries, and Forest Heights from one to fifty.

EXTEND BOUNDARIES

All of this has come about, says the assessor, because the city has been pushing its boundaries outward as the population increased. New subdivisions have been opened up and platted and many now are sprinkled with new homes. Others still lie unoccupied, yet they are owned by many instead of one or two. The Third, Fifth and Sixth wards are the places where the assessing work has multiplied the most as the city is growing toward the westward. The Fourth ward is almost dormant. Very few changes are made there.

Mr. Rule is thankful that most persons who open up new subdivisions plat the lands according to blocks and lots. He has some, however, that are handled by metes and bounds and these sometimes require a whole day of effort for each tract. One in point is block 59 at the corner of W. Wisconsin-ave and N. Richmond-st. This was all one assessment 11 years past. Now it is cut up into many lots but they are not indicated by the simple method of blocks and lots. Instead each parcel is described by metes and bounds so that there is a whole row of entries on the books giving cumbersome descriptions of the boundary lines of each.

Real estate assessments have kept pace with those of personal property, because the number of them has practically doubled. The valuation of Appleton formerly was $16,000,000 and now it is $32,000,000.

Mr. Rule completed assessing of the Sixth ward this week and now is getting his office records in shape

DR. DEL MARCELLE IS SHOWING IMPROVEMENT

Dr. C. C. Del Marcelle, prominent Neenah physician, who was injured more than two months ago in an automobile accident, is improving at the Mercy hospital in Oshkosh where he has been confined since the accident, according to Mrs. C. Del Marcelle, the doctors' mother.

Dr. Del Marcelle's car crashed into a telephone pole when he attempted to avoid striking another car which made a left hand turn ahead of him on the highway. Up to this time he has been paralyzed from the waist down, but he now has some feeling in one leg. The physician is being given electrical treatments at the Mercy hospital, and these will be continued for at least another month before he is removed to the home of his parents in Green Bay.

PEABODY AND SCOTT WILL EXCHANGE PULPITS

Dr. H. E. Peabody, pastor of the First Congregational church, and Dr. Virgil B. Scott, pastor of Memorial Presbyterian church, will exchange pulpits Sunday. Each will preach in the other's church at the regular morning service. Both gatherings begin at 11 o'clock.

For the board of review. He expects to have his work all in readiness by July 20. He has worked evenings for many weeks to accomplish this.

8 PER CENT IS NEW DIVIDEND ON B. L. SAVINGS

Installment Shares Will Earn
More Under Plan Adopted
by Directors

Dividends of eight per cent will be declared hereafter on Appleton Building and Loan association shares paid under the installment plan, according to a decision of the board of directors at the monthly meeting Thursday afternoon in the association office in insurance-bldg. The plan will go into effect as of July 1, this year.

Sales of installment stock will be pushed hereafter in order to comply with the new state law requiring associations to have one-third of their shares on this basis. It is expected that a large number of new monthly savings accounts will be opened as a result.

The showing made by the organization during the last six months, as indicated in the report of George H. Beckley, secretary, led the directors to increase the savings dividend. Economical management has made a large surplus possible and $3,000 of this amount was set aside to take care of the increased payment.

Under the plan now being evolved all shares which were on record on June 30, 1925 will earn a dividend on Jan. 1, 1926 at the rate of eight per cent annually. The annual rate on shares subscribed to after June 30 and on record Dec. 31, 1925 will be seven per cent for the dividend paid

STATE MEETING OF YOUNG FOLKS

Episcopal Church Young People Will Hold Conference at Racine

The ideas of young people upon such questions as divorce, relations between capital and labor, religious creed and doctrines and international problems will be expressed at the first annual national conference of Young People's societies of the Episcopal church to be held August 27 to 30 at Racine. The desire to be heard upon current problems of importance, to have a voice in the management of church affairs and an opportunity to serve has resulted in the formation of the young people's societies of Episcopal churches throughout the country.

One of the proposals which will be definitely decided upon at the meeting will be the formation of a national commission of young people with provisions for a secretary of young peoples work in the Episcopal department of religious education.

Representatives from practically all of nearly 100 dioceses of the American church are expected to be present. Church leaders of national prominence will lead discussions. The principal object will be to give the young people an opportunity to voice their views and desires, to outline their own plans or organization and program. Future representation in the council of the church also will be decided.

Conclusions of the Racine conference will be embodied in a report to the triennial general convention of the church in New Orleans next October.

FINDS ONEIDA M. E. MISSION THRIVING

Dr. J. H. Tippet, superintendent of Appleton district, was at the Methodist Indian mission at Oneida Thursday to conduct the annual conference there. Mrs. Tippet and Miss Anna Slothower accompanied him.

The meeting was held at Epworth hall, where a luncheon was provided for the visitors and parishioners. The report of the Rev. George Tennant, pastor, showed that the mission had received a number of members during the year and that the church was holding its own nicely. Its membership is composed entirely of Oneida Indians.

One of the projects which the church set for the coming year was the repainting of all of its buildings. Plans will be made to raise money for this purpose.

EXTENSIVE REPAIRS IN SENIOR H. S. BUILDING

New panels are being placed in the high school gymnasium and the room also is being replastered. Two other rooms of the high school are being repainted and all the lockers in the building are to be inspected and faulty locks repaired. It is expected more repairs will be authorized at a meeting of the building and grounds committee on Saturday.

HAND-TO-MOUTH BUYING POLICY IS DANGEROUS

Babson Warns That Catastrophe Is Just Around Corner if Care Is Not Taken

Babson Park, Mass.—During the past week Roger W. Babson has been studying the apparent inconsistencies existing today between the high bank clearings and slow business; between the record breaking car loadings and the lack of orders. Never before in history have these opposite conditions been witnessed at the same time and opinions differ greatly as to the causes of this business paradox. Mr. Babson's answer is as follows:

"The apparent inconsistency in the present business situation is due primarily to the fact that a majority of manufacturers and merchants have gone on a hand-to-mouth buying basis. There are many reasons for this change. The primary one is the fact that so many business men lost such great sums on their inventories in 1921 that they are not going to be caught in such a predicament again. Furthermore, as the Babson Organization has been constantly forecasting, most commodities have been declining for some time so that those manufacturers and merchants who have been buying on a hand-to-mouth basis have thus far been the most successful. In most cases it has been easy enough to get goods and usually the longer one waited the lower he could buy. This has encouraged hand to mouth buying the same as a falling stock market encourages short selling.

"It is perfectly safe at times to sell the stock market short provided you are the only one doing it! The more people, however, who indulge in this short selling, the more risky it becomes. If too many persons sell stock market short, there develops a corner and all are given a terrible licking. The same principle applies to hand-to-mouth buying. In a gradually declining commodity market, such as we have been in for some time, a certain number of manufacturers and merchants can do well by following a hand-to-mouth policy. If, however, too many people indulge in this policy, there may be trouble. Hand-to-mouth buying is safe provided no unforeseen event happens to disturb the equilibrium by suddenly either cutting off the supply or increasing the demand. But if such an unforeseen event suddenly occurs, then there is trouble. Among the unforeseen events that at one time to my mind are the following three:

WEATHER AND STYLE CHANGES

"As I have said many times, the weather is a great factor in retail trade and hence a great factor in all industries. Ninety-five per cent of the merchants today prepare for only normal weather. They count on a certain number of warm days and a certain number of rainy days; and a certain number of fair days. They buy their goods, either consciously or unconsciously, according to the normal weather conditions with no reserve at all on hand. This was always more or less true, but under the hand-to-mouth system merchants carry almost no reserve whatever. Hence, when an abrupt change comes in the weather, such as an early or abnormally hot summer, or an early or severe winter, they are caught with no stock away and are obliged to turn customers away.

"The same general principle applies to style changes. The public thinks that the manufacturers make and change the styles. Of course they do attempt to do this but they often fail. In practice they send samples around to the jobbers as sort of tests. The jobbers send out their salesmen with the samples to try out the merchants, and the merchants in turn try out the consumers. Business Conditions Are Becoming Understandable

BY JOHN T. FLANN

NEW YORK—The general business situation is undoubtedly clearing or at least it is becoming more understandable. The excessive enthusiasm and the over geared appetite for pulchre prosperity has been squeezed out of our uncautious industrialists and business has returned to a state of equilibrium with everything in shape for whatever may come in the fall. Production has declined, of course, as was inevitable, partly because it was geared too high and partly because of the season. But while it is lower, in most things it is not below normal.

The Federal Reserve Board's index of production in basic industries declined six per cent in May, to a level 12 per cent below the high point in January. But the rate of production in January was very much higher than it should have been. There were further considerable decreases in the output of the iron and steel and woolen industries; and declines also occurred in the mill consumption of cotton and in copper, sole leather, and newsprint production. The number of automobiles manufactured during May fell slightly below the record figure of April. Employment at industrial establishments was slightly less in May than in the month before, with decreases, partly seasonal, in the clothing, boot and shoe, iron and steel industries and increases in the industries producing automobiles, tobacco products, and certain building materials. Building contracts awarded during May were smaller in value and in square feet than for any other month on record.

These facts relate to May. It is reasonable to suppose that there was a still further decline in June, but no figures are available on that score yet. In all these statements about production, however, it is well to remember that factories are running in most trades as well or better than normal. This is true also of the iron and steel industry. That consumption will continue through July and August on a scale well above that of the summer of 1924, is indicated as the steel trade looks on the second half of the year. Today's mill operators are slightly below those of the week before the holiday. However, the number of new orders and the firmer attitude of some leading producers in respect to prices are taken as favorable signs, together with the fact that in the heavier products June business showed an improvement over May, even though small.

Some slowing up in output and sales of automobiles was observed during the week just past, and in the industry as a whole the rate of production is now from 10 to 15 per cent below the average maintained during the early part of June.

Conditions are, however, still better than normal for this time of year and optimism at the factories is unabated. Those concerns which have closed down to prepare for new models are expecting a big summer business, and in the case of several large producers output has not yet caught up with sales.

The July total of production for the industry, it is expected, will be rather seriously affected by a two weeks' closing down of a leading factory which has up to now been turning out cars at a record-breaking rate. Truck sales are showing a downward tendency, but they are still running well ahead of last year at this time.

Exports in all automotive lines are continuing at the highest rate in the history of the industry.

SALES ARE GOOD

Retail trade continues at a very substantial rate. All of the chain stores showed extraordinary gains in June over their business in the same month last year. The Kresge Co.

they find out what styles and colors can best be sold and plan accordingly.

FOREIGN COMPLICATIONS

"Affairs in our country are pretty much settled, but conditions abroad are still very unsettled. This applies not only to Europe, but to other countries as well. Conditions in China are very chaotic; the French are at war with the Mohammedans in Northern Africa; Russia is still in the hands of the anarchists; and we may have a severe break with Mexico at any time. Upon all of these countries we are absolutely dependent for certain products. We are dependent upon Japan for silks, China for tea, on the Far East for rubber, and on Mexico for sisal and many other products. In past days many of these factors bought big stocks of these products sufficient for one or two years, if necessary, without further importations. Today, however, if the supply of certain foreign products were to be suddenly decreased there would be a famine in the market in a few months.

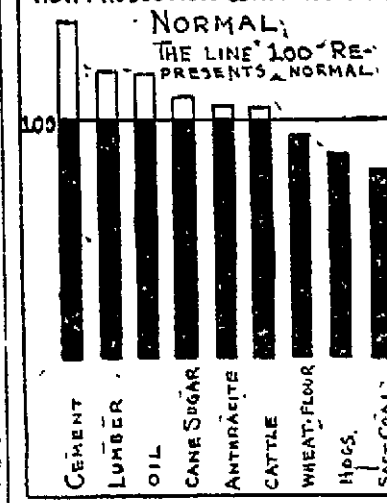

Events to cause a stampede in certain imported goods are liable to happen at any time, and indications at the moment are that this is especially true in the case of Mexico. Therefore I strongly advise manufacturers and merchants to keep in stock a good supply of imported goods.

LABOR TROUBLES

"The United States has been very free from labor troubles during the past two years. There were fewer strikes and fewer men out on strike during 1924 than during any of the past ten or fifteen years. Manufacturers are even beginning to showed an increase of 22 per cent; the Penney Co. had an increase of 27 per cent; the W. T. Grant Co., 31 per cent. Now of course some of this increase is due to the expansion of these chains. But this by no means accounts for all of it. The most amazing feature of it is that while business for the whole six months shows an increase over the same six months of 1924, the increase of June was the largest.

WHAT FACTORIES ARE DOING

How Production Compares With

Not only is this true, but car loadings also showed an increase not only over last June, but over the preceding weeks. There is much difference of opinion about the significance of car loadings. Some experts insist too much importance is attached to car loadings. The truth is that too much importance is attached to a number of individual trade factors. They are significant when read all together. Read all together so many factors point to a sound condition of business that we can hardly doubt their meaning.

The survey of the Shippers Advisory Board is always helpful. In this, 30 leading industries in the East estimate their needs for freight car accommodations for the coming quarter. Nearly every industry is asking for more cars than in the first and second quarters of the year. Some of these industries estimate car requirements 20 or 30 per cent greater than in the same period last year.

HOW ABOUT CROPS?

One sees odd statements about business made with perfect assurance. Thus reports have been printed in the last week that various trades "look for heavy fall business, based on the coming good crops." The good crops are taken as a settled thing. Now the truth is that no one knows anything about the crops yet. A certain amount of information is available about our domestic crops, but the condition of world crops which will regulate the price is unknown. This may be a big fall year. But we will have to wait a little while yet before we can know it.

Along with many other favorable signs goes a tremendous, indeed an insatiable demand for bonds. Bond houses are bidding against each other for issues and the appearance of a corporation in the market with a request for a loan is hailed like the arrival of an old friend. The public has an apparently bottomless sock and is hungry for good investments. Sometimes it is not so particular, which is bad.

In the stock market there is a generally diffused feeling that the market looks well. The reason it looks good is obvious—there is little or no selling. Owners of stocks feel secure. Even occasional raids by bears bring only momentary declines for the short selling is quickly covered.

Copyright, U. P. C. News Service, Inc.

Set careless and omit the red ink warning we used to see on our order acceptances and letter-heads disavowing any liability in case of strikes, etc. Either these manufacturers are planning on strikes as the regular part of their routine of business or else they have reached the time when they think there will be no more labor troubles. I don't want to be a crane hanger, but because labor is quiet is a pretty sure sign that something is brewing. The very fact that we have few labor disturbances at the present time is one of the best reasons why they may be expected to develop before the year is over.

"Under the old system, when business men bought a supply of raw materials and merchandise covering a year or more in advance, strikes were not a serious price factor. If

BUILDER SEES LITTLE CHANGE IN HOME COSTS

Contractor Robert Schultz Says There Is No Advantage in Waiting

People who own lots and contemplate erecting homes on them should not postpone building operations in the hope that building costs will be lower next year or the year following according to Robert Schultz, 1228 W. Lawrence-st., building contractor. There has been no marked change in building prices for the last five years and there is little probability that construction prices will fluctuate much in the next three years. Prices of certain building materials fluctuate to a certain extent from year to year but the average cost of home construction figures up to quite an even average.

Mr. Schultz has seen a marked change in the method employed in building homes since he first engaged in the contracting business in Appleton. Years ago the home builder dealt only with the contractor, now most home builders deal first with an architect, and then with the contractor. In the old method the contractor and the person building the home drew up the plans together, the relative amount of work done by each depending on the ability or talent which either party possessed along architectural lines. The modern home builder, lets the architect take care of the planning, and many contractors of today prefer to work from architects' plans because they are more accurate, and more easy to follow than those of individual home builders or the plans of the contractor himself.

Popular among modern homes, according to Mr. Schultz is the colonial type. These houses are of a relatively square shape, compact in structure, and have comparatively low ceilings. The average height of a colonial ceiling is about eight and a half feet. Ceilings of older style houses were nine and ten feet high. The older homes were of a more rambling style than the modern homes. The low ceiling in the colonial-homes saves material costs, and rooms with low ceilings are easier to heat.

However, strikes should occur today in certain industries, prices of certain raw materials and products would shoot up to high figures because manufacturers have not on hand sufficient supplies to carry their trade over a period of prolonged labor trouble. The supply of such products would be rapidly diminished, and merchants would be unable to get goods except at very high prices. This is a reason why manufacturers and merchants should carry sufficient reserves of domestic raw materials and manufactured goods, as well as imported raw materials and merchandise.

DON'T CRUSH JOBBERS

"If we are to continue hand-to-mouth buying, the jobber is absolutely essential to trade and commerce because he forms sort of a cushion between the manufacturer and the retailer. Yet the tendency today is to eliminate the jobber. Manufacturers are trying to reach the retailers and consumers, direct; while consumers are endeavoring to buy products direct from the factory or from the mine. I am not discouraging this practice, as it has its good features; but I must sound a warning note against eliminating the jobber. If a merchant is to get on without the jobber, he must take the jobber's place, and carry a big stock of goods. If he is to do a hand-to-mouth business, the jobber is absolutely essential.

"In conclusion let me say that this hand-to-mouth policy must be most carefully watched by every investor, especially while money rates are now so easy.

LEANS LOSE BALL GAME AND "FEED" TO BIG FELLOWS

Fats Whip Skinny Men, 11 to 9, in Annual Championship Tussle

Kaukauna—The fats and the leans engaged in their annual battle for baseball supremacy about 5:30 Friday afternoon. The battle ended 11 to 9 in favor of the big fellows, which means the leans will have to dig down and provide a banquet in the near future for the winners of the annual setto.

Although the game was scheduled for 4 o'clock it was not until after business hours that the teams got together. Both sides had several "runners" but the fats easily had the advantage throughout the exhibition. They cavorted around the garden like cats and the leans came under the stickwork. The reaction was expected Saturday in the form of weary limbs and aching muscles.

Frank Roebenbach donned the big mitt for the big fellows. Frank is old hand at the job and he is always called upon in occasions of this kind. Jimmy McFadden opened the game on the mound and he did well for three innings when he was relieved by Hank Minkbeke. Hank also is an old timer but a severe attack of stage fright left him on the bench during the first few minutes of his reign. He walked a few batters and gave the leans a chance to nearly tie the score before he settled down into big league form. In the last frame with only two runs margin, he set down the lean heavy hitters in consecutive order.

Gottfried, late of the Y. M. C. A. Cubs, worked behind the log for the leans. Brenzel and Haas performed on the mound.

WALTER KAPPEL DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Kaukauna—Walter Kappel, 59, died at 12:20 Friday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Malsavage, 331 W. Third-st., after an illness of about seven months. He is survived by two sons, Harry, Appleton and Walter, Kaukauna; three daughters, Mrs. Malsavage, Kaukauna; Mrs. Fred Swenson, Chicago and Mrs. Joseph Vils, Kaukauna and nine grandchildren.

Mr. Kappel was born in Illinois on June 4, 1864. He had been a resident in Kaukauna for 28 years. Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Monday morning in St. Mary church. Burial will be in parish cemetery.

MASONIC TEAM WINS GAME AT NEW LONDON

Kaukauna—A group of Kaukauna Masons and DeMolays went to New London late Friday afternoon and engaged in a training ball game with their New London brothers. The electric City crew won 7 to 5. The New London game is expected here for a return battle Monday evening, July 20. Among those who formed the local team were Sylvester Dix, P. R. McGinnis, Lyle Webster, Art Francis, Kurt Beyer, Earl Evans, Frank Kern, S. N. Enghardt and John Winge.

KAUKAUNA CHURCHES

Kaukauna—Kaukauna churches will conduct services Sunday, July 12 as follows:

First Congregational, Rev. Daniel Woodward, pastor—Sunday school, 8:45; Sunday worship, 10:45. Next Sunday morning sermon will be "The Significance of the Three Crosses." The symbolic application of the cross will be considered in this sermon only in its reference to the church. There will be a good gospel musical program. The spiritual and zealous people of this church are putting across the slogan of this summer in fine shape: "Go to church Sunday morning before you go elsewhere later in the day."

Holy Cross, Rev. Mgr. P. J. Lochmann, pastor—Masses at 5:30, 6:45, 8 o'clock and 9:30.

Trinity Lutheran, Rev. Paul Oehlert, pastor—Sunday school, 8:30, English worship, 9:30; German worship, 10:30. Visiting pastors are conducting the services in the absence of the pastor who is on his vacation.

Brokaw Methodist, Rev. W. P. Hulen, pastor—Sunday school 9:30, lesson: "Paul's Preaching and Its Effects." Morning worship 10:30, theme: "Christ, Our Great Companion." Special musical selections will include "I Am The Way," a prayer response and "Praise Ye The Lord" and choir anthem.

FOOTBALL NOW IS RIVAL OF BASEBALL IN HAWAII

Honolulu—Football has become a close rival to baseball for popularity in Hawaii, according to paid attendance figures for both sports made public by J. Ashman Beaver, owner of McMillan park, Honolulu's shrine of athletics.

For the short football season 73,000 persons paid admission to the park. These included the attendance at the one game played by Occidental college of California against the University of Hawaii and the game of Colorado university against the Pearl Harbor navy team and the university of Hawaii.

The total turnout for last year's college baseball season, with attendance compiled for four times as many games as were counted in arriving at the football attendance, was 75,000, Beaver announced.

FEW MINORS GETTING PERMITS TO LABOR

Special to the Post-Crescent

New London—Working permits for school children who are under the age limit required by the state statutes are not being issued by F. A. Jennings, the officials in charge, at a very rapid rate this year. This is due probably to the fact that work of any kind, even for older people is scarce at this time, and most young people are finding it hard to secure employment.

PFEIFER HAS ALMOST PERFECT SHOOT SCORE

Special to the Post-Crescent

New London—The season of the New London Gun Club is well under way. Shots are being held on Sunday at the park on the Hortonville road two miles south of the city. Dr. F. J. Pfeifer has the record so far this season, having broken 49 out 50 birds July 4. However, he is closely followed by E. C. Oestrich and several other ambitious shots.

STRIKE THREAT FINDS U. S. NEAR COAL SHORTAGE

(Clipping from Chicago Tribune July 4, 1925)

Washington, D. C., July 4—(United Press)—The threat of a joint strike of all union coal miners today found the nation faced with the prospect of a coal shortage such as marked the coal strike two years ago.

Government experts have made a check of stocks on hand and find there is no great surplus of fuel at the present time, probably not much more than a two weeks' supply.

ADVISE BUYING COAL NOW

As a result of their deductions—made at the request of President Coolidge—advice is being given to manufacturers and individual consumers to buy their winter fuel supply.

Production of anthracite is running 1,600,000 to 2,000,000 tons a week, which is abnormal production to meet current demands—but no surplus is being accumulated.

LITTLE HARD COAL ON HAND

The estimated stock of bituminous coal above ground is 35,000,000 to 40,000,000 tons. Anthracite on hand totals about 10,000,000 tons.

In event of a strike there would be this year more nonunion soft coal available than in previous strikes. Production of nonunion bituminous coal is now 50 per cent of the total national production and a large portion of this supply would continue.

SURPLUS IS SMALL

The present supplies are just about enough to cover the period of transportation between the mine pits and the consumers and if the mines were to shut down today the supply would furnish fuel to each district only for about as long as it requires to haul a car of coal from the mines to the location. They represent not a surplus, but the normal coverage of transportation.

The anthracite wage agreement does not expire until Aug. 31, and negotiations for a new agreement are to be undertaken in Atlantic City next Thursday. Both sides are pessimistic about the outcome.

TENNIS STARS HOPE TO AVERAGE JULY 4 DEFEAT

New London—G. H. Putnam and "Doc" Sutcliffe, two "champions" of the local tennis club, will meet with the two "racquetters" of Marion on Sunday afternoon. The match was played under difficult conditions, and so the local men are sure that they will be able to turn the tables on Sunday afternoon.

The local club may send a team to Waupaca, to decide the championship of the two cities.

WANT U. S. ROAD NUMBERED "15"

Ishpeming Lions Club Asks
Chamber of Commerce
Help to Obtain Standard
Label

"United States highway No. 15, St. Louis, Mo., to Ishpeming, Mich." is the hope of the Lions club at Ishpeming, according to a letter received from J. E. Joplin, chairman of its tourist committee, by the chamber commerce. Assistance is asked in bringing about a designation of this kind.

The Ishpeming letter declares that the United States bureau of public roads is working with state highway commissions to map out routes across the country numbered continuously from state to state. One of the logical federal routes will be from St. Louis to upper Michigan by way of Chicago and Milwaukee, it is said. This highway now is No. 15 in Wisconsin and Michigan and ought to be numbered the same way in Illinois and Missouri, the chairman argues. Steps of this kind already have been taken by the Greater Sheridan Road association, Appleton Chamber of Commerce is asked to press this matter for action with the federal road bureau and the state highway commissions. A meeting is to be held in Washington early in August at which the subject will be taken up.

STAGE AND SCREEN

GREAT CAST HAS LEADING ROLES

With the great number of comedies of such high calibre as "Charley's Aunt," "Reckless Romance," and "Hold Your Breath," to their credit, Al and Charles Christie might well set themselves up as dictators of what does or does not constitute good comedy.

"Stop Flirting," the latest Christie offering, which is playing at the Elite Theatre today and Sunday presents a new angle on the so-called social whirl of high society, according to Al Christie.

In other words it will be a comedy replete with purely humorous episodes and hilarious laughter. "Laughing entertainment only" is the slogan which Scott Sidney, the director adopted for the filming of the picture.

All the characters in the big cast have been selected because of their ability to capably interpret farce roles. John T. Murray, former vaudeville and revue star, heads the cast. Opposite him is Wanda Hawley who scored heavily in "Reckless Romance" and "Let Women Alone."

MILTON SILLS HERE

Milton Sills, who plays the stellar role in First National's "The Making of O'Malley," coming to the Elite Theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, says he can swing a club as well as any policeman on the New York force.

It is no idle boast, for Sills appears in this picture as a New York "cop." He had eight weeks of life on the "beat" during the filming.

"The Making of O'Malley" is an adaptation of Gerard Beaumont's magazine story of the same title. Dorothy Mackaill heads a supporting cast.

If you like a picture that tangles with action, moves at a rapid pace and gives you a thrill a minute, don't miss "The Streets of New York" at the New Bijou Theater Monday and Tuesday.

Burton King, the director, has done wonders with this great melodrama which was—and is—one of the most sensational stage successes of all time. He has made from it a production as grippingly dramatic as it is possible to imagine, relieving, ever and again, the tension and terror with broad strokes of real humor.

The cast is uniformly excellent. Edward Earle, as Paul Fairweather, does splendid work, while Barbara Castleton is appealingly beautiful. Kate Blanche in the role of the mother paints a vivid and compelling portrait. Anders Randolph contributes another of his dependable characterizations and Leslie King, last seen as "Jacques, Forget-Not" in D. W. Griffith's "Orphans of the Storm," wins new honors by his playing of "Badger."

GORGEOUS GOWNS FEATURE "A KISS IN THE DARK"

As fascinating an array of new screen styles as has ever been seen in pictures is brought to the Appleton Theatre next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. In the new Paramount picture, "A Kiss in the Dark," directed by Frank Tuttle, who made "Miss Bluebeard."

Lillian Rich, Aileen Pringle, Ann Pennington and Kitty Kelly, the last two of the "Follies," and others of Broadway's best-dressed women appear in the cast of the production. Adolph Menjou and Kenneth MacKenna hold up the man's side of the clothes question.

Menjou and the Misses Rich and Pringle are featured in the leading roles of the picture, a screen version of the stage hit, "Aren't We All," by Frederick Lonsdale. Townsend Martin wrote the screen play.

"A Kiss in the Dark," is a smart comedy of sophisticated society laid in Havana and New York. Menjou is a ladies man whose philandering drives his sweetheart, played by Miss Pringle, to distraction. Miss Rich plays Betty King, in love with her husband, Johnny (Kenneth MacKenna), but also interested in each and every other handsome young man who happens along. She carries on a flirtation with Menjou and almost

DON'T KNOW WHO IS TO MARK STATE ROUTES

Complaints have reached the county highway office with reference to the insufficient marking of state trunk highways at certain points in Appleton, particularly at W. Wisconsin-ave and N. Leminwah-st. at E. Pacific-st and N. Leminwah-st. and at College-ave and Oneida-st.

Those complaining were in doubt as to who is responsible for the marking of routes, whether the city, the county or the state. In former years the signing was done by state crews at county expense, now the state has taken the work over entirely, paying for the work out of the gasoline tax and motor license tax.

It is said that scores of motorists lose their way upon entering the city from the north for lack of a direction sign showing them where to turn. Other motorists lose their way at College-ave and Oneida-st and drive to the west end in an attempt to find highway 15.

RICHEST OFFICE BOY HAS HIS DIFFICULTIES

By Associated Press
New York — Marquis de Lorian, world's richest office boy, is not likely to crash the social barrier of bonafide office lads.

"The regular fellows" just can't take to him.

"He don't belong," they grumble. "Coming to town with a valet—what's he know?"

It seems that ancestry has little place in the realm of the office boy. Being the 26-year-old son of Spain's foremost banker, cuts no ice. But knowing the street directory means a lot.

"He can't even get down to work alone," the regulars continue. "But the marquis isn't worrying, for John Pierpont Morgan has taken him in tow."

Accompanied by his valet, an extensive wardrobe, and a member of the Paris branch of the Morgans, the "dock," as some of the bunch have started to call him, came over to learn banking from the ground up.

JUDGE'S DEATH DOESN'T HALT COUNTY POLICE

The vacancy in the municipal court as a result of the death of Judge A. M. Spencer will in no way check the activities of the county motor police, it was announced at the office of the county highway department Friday.

Although there will be no court before which to arraign speeders for some time, county motor police will continue to make arrests for speeding and all other violations of the county motor vehicle ordinance. No warrants are necessary in these cases, as long as the officers catch the offenders in the act.

When arrests are made, the offenders will be served with notices to appear in court after the vacancy has been filled by an appointment.

SPECIAL NOTE TO MEN: A Beautiful Girl Will Give Each Man Attending Show a Kiss Upon Request

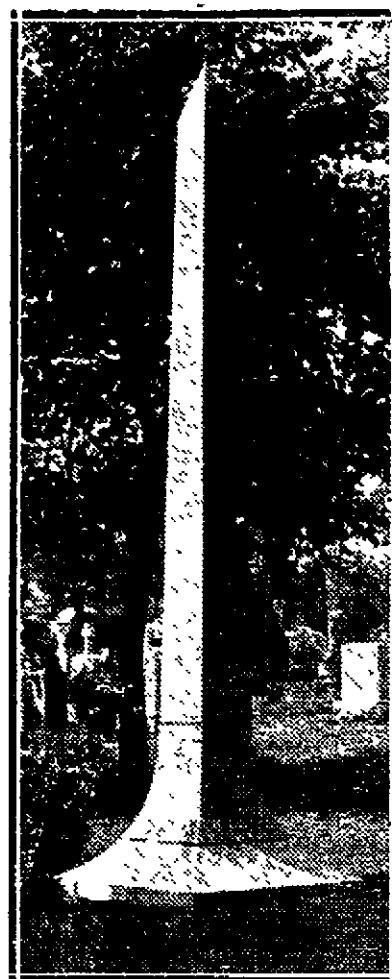

IMMENSE NEW BRIDGE WILL SPAN DELAWARE RIVER

Camden, N. J., and Philadelphia, Pa., soon will be connected by the new Delaware River Bridge, now almost completed as shown in the above photo taken from Philadelphia. The bridge will be a great boon not only to the commercial life of the two cities but to motorists visiting Atlantic City.

Hiram Johnson, fire-eating senator from California, had an adventuresome time when he and his son, Hiram Jr., cruised in their yacht from Florida to San Francisco. Honduran rebels seized them, though they let them go shortly afterward. The trip took seven weeks and the senator lost 15 pounds.

To the memory of a murdered gunman. This thirty-foot obelisk, costing $3000, was erected over the grave of Dion O'Banion, slain Chicago gunman, by his widow, Mrs. Viola O'Banion, in Mt. Carmel cemetery. It bears but one word—"O'Banion."

On the left is Miss Jean Meyer of Youngstown, O., chosen as the most beautiful girl at Highland Manor School, Tarrytown, N. Y., dressed as a Watteau marquise of centuries past. On the right she is her own sweet self.

Edwin Carewe, producer of several movie successes, was the most surprised man in the world one day recently when he saw his pretty young daughter, Yvonne, in the background of a picture. Unknown to him because he has always opposed her entering the theatrical profession, she had obtained a job as an extra girl. A few days later Carewe called for a group of "extras" for a picture which he was directing. In walked his daughter again. "I got a job through your casting director, before he found out who I was," said Yvonne.

A fool proof airplane that can't get out of control is claimed by W. M. Bralley, University at California graduate, who is shown here with Mrs. Bralley displaying a model of the plane. A pendulum control device will hold the ship on even keel at all times, he says. R. E. Milton of Salt Lake City, was associated with Bralley in the invention.

HUGE CROWD IN PARK LISTENS TO BAND PROGRAM

Mixed Choir Selections One of Most Pleasing Features of Concert

Nearly 5000 people enjoyed the band concert given by the 120th artillery band in Pierce Park Friday evening. Although all the numbers played were very well received, the overture, ampa, received the most applause from the large audience. Jupiter Carnival was exceptionally well played and gave all members of the band an opportunity to show their skill in playing their particular instruments. Another popular number was the Drummer's Escapade, this piece being featured by a pleasing xylophone solo by Clarence Meltz. The Appleton Mixed choir sang several numbers during an intermission in the band program. The singing was very well liked and Edward Mumm, director of the band hopes to secure the services of the choir for future band concerts. The next band concert will be held Friday July 17.

A thing which was very annoying to the many music lovers who flocked to the concert at Pierce Park was that several people who came to the concert in cars, and who did not stay for the entire program, started the engines of their automobiles while pieces were being played and while the choir was singing. There were many complaints about this discourtesy shown to the band and to the people who came to listen to the music. Mr. Mumm made a request that at future band concerts motorists refrain from starting their engines and driving away until after a number has been played.

RICHMOND-ST. PAVING STARTS

Crew Begins Building Curbs at North End—No Word from Asphalt Men

Appleton's big paving construction program for the year 1925 got under way when Simpson and Parker, contractors, began building concrete curbs on the N. Richmond-st. project. This company is the first to begin and work is expected soon from others who are to do work here this year.

The north end of N. Richmond-st. is to be paved first so as to prevent too much interruption of traffic in the vicinity of W. College-ave when 10th Ch. and St. Streets are to be torn up to be resurfaced. The Simpson-Parker crew therefore is building curbing and roadway from W. Wisconsin-ave south.

It is expected that the Richmond-st. project will move swiftly, as a steam shovel and a huge mixer are understood to be ready for use and the concrete work is all done in one operation instead of having to lay a rough base and return afterward to apply a top surfacing.

No word has been received from Whyte Construction Co., the concern which was awarded the contracts for asphalt paving here. The opinion is that the crews are busy on other projects and will finish these before reaching Appleton. Delay of more than a month was occasioned in the awarding of contracts and contractors therefore had to start in other cities to keep their crews busy.

BUBONIC PLAGUE CLAIMS FORTY THREE RUSSIANS

Moscow—Forty three deaths from the bubonic plague have been reported in southeast Russia since the outbreak of the epidemic last month. Eighteen communities in the upper and lower Volga regions have been affected thus far.

BUILDING PERMITS

Only one building permit was issued Saturday by G. E. Peotter, building inspector, but it was of a goodly size. It was for the addition to Fourth district school for junior high school purposes. The construction is in excess of $25,000.

SCOPES WISHES HIS FAME WOULD DIE DOWN A LITTLE

BY ALLENE SUMNER

Dayton, Tenn.—Once upon a time a certain placid cow stopped chewing the cud of contentment long enough to take a good healthy wallop at a lantern.

As a result, Chicago burned and the cow achieved immortality.

Now the cow hadn't figured on so much fame and didn't like it. When the end came, just before they cut her up into beefsteaks, she tossed and muttered:

"If only these reporters would leave me alone."

John T. Scopes, freckled young school teacher, is in much the same predicament.

Scopes took a leap in the dark when he agreed to be the corpus delicti in the legal test of Tennessee's anti-evolution law.

To his great amazement he has become famous. And he doesn't like it. He sees eye to eye with the poet who remarked that the paths of glory lead but to the grave.

He wonders dimly what all the shooting is for, and he spends much of his time squatting on the steps of the postoffice or drug store.

The great men of the earth come to town to protect this frail youth. Clarence Darrow comes, and Bainbridge Colby and... Dublin Field Malone.

They are dined and banqueted and fêted. Sometimes John Thomas Scopes, the "martyr" youth persecuted for his belief in the "holiness of freedom" appears on the scene and shuffles in, hunched over upon his mainly bosom, eyes furtively seeking out reporters, lurking in the trail of his defenders.

When he goes to the big towns like Chattanooga or Atlanta or Knoxville for conferences and the like, he judges his brain for stunts that make him one of the herd. His favorite trick is of the herd. His favorite trick is of the herd.

John Thomas carries a pad and pencil and takes copious notes.

"Have you seen this Scopes fellow?" he inquires of the curious bystander.

Professor Johnny Scopes calls for his mail every morning at the Dayton Postoffice. Sometimes he can take it away in one load, sometimes not. Sometimes he reads it. Sometimes not.

There will be a special meeting of the Outagamie Bar association at a luncheon at the Hotel Northern Monday, July 13, according to an announcement made Saturday by Thomas H. The regular monthly meetings of the Outagamie County Bar association have been discontinued during the summer months but business of a special nature made it necessary to call a meeting for Monday.

2 MENASHA MEN BUILD RACING CAR

High Speed Automobile Will Be Entered in County Fair Races in Fall

Menasha—Robert Schlegel and J. F. Gazdka have completed a new racing car with which they intend to make the circuit of the fair the coming fall, including the state fair at Milwaukee. It is the lightest car of its kind known, 800 pounds, and will develop a speed of approximately 95 miles an hour.

The motor, a four-cylinder, was designed by the owners of the boat and was built by the Continental Motors Co. It has been given several tests and works perfectly. The car has been building for more than ten months.

The greatest problem of the builders at present concerns the tests which will probably be made on the race track at Appleton or on one of the state highways at an early hour in the morning.

2 BILLION FRANCS HID IN "FRENCH STOCKING"

Paris—According to conservative estimates there are two billion francs in gold coins hidden away in the "old stockings" of the French people, and if France had this hidden gold at its disposal the country's financial situation would be distinctly improved. Every kind of appeal but one has been made to induce the holders to let the state have their hoarded coins, and during the war much was recuperated under patriotic influences.

What remains seems to form an unattainable residue as far as the state is concerned. Every now and then, however, cases come before the courts wherein people are condemned for going round the country buying up 20-franc pieces, which they induce the hoarders to surrender in return for from 40 to 50 francs. Their real value is more like 70 francs, but this traffic is illegal and dealers in it need high rates of profit.

Jose Thery, a financial writer, is advising the state to offer enough paper for gold to bring out this two billion. Theoreticians, he says, will be shocked at the idea of the state admitting its 20 franc gold coin is worth more than its 20-franc bill. The humblest field laborer knows this, so what harm can the state's admission do? he asks.

PRINCESS KIN TO ALL EUROPE'S ROYAL FOLK

London—London society circles were much enlivened recently by a visit here of Princess Blucher, Silvia, and who, in one way or another, claims to be related to all the royal families of Europe.

Prior to her marriage to Prince Blucher, the present representative of the family of famous Field Marshal General "Vorwarts" Blucher, who fought with the Duke of Wellington at Waterloo, the Princess was Miss Stapleton Bretherton, of Rain hill, Lancashire, her parents representing two ancient Roman Catholic families. Her mother was the daughter of the twelfth Baron Petre.

After the war the princess published a book, "An English Wife in

NO MARRIAGE OR DIVORCE IN THIS STRANGE COLONY

Communitistic Village in Eng- land Drops Ordinary Con- ventions of Civilized Life

Whiteway, England—Here is this little village tucked away in the Cotswold Hills, live 70 people to whom the ordinary conventions of civilized life mean nothing.

No marriage—no divorce; no work for gain; no strikes; no rich; no poor; none of these exist in Whiteway colony. It may not be a practical arrangement for all the world, but it gives contentment here.

Little boys and girls call adults by their first name. "Father" and "Mother" are discarded titles.

Of the residents of the hamlet, two or three couples were legally married before joining the community. But in the main those who wish to marry simply announce their intent at one of the community meetings. Even this announcement is not necessary—they are at liberty to decide the matter for themselves and immediately to set up housekeeping.

These "free" marriages are not always happy—the proportion of disagreements is about the same as in the outside world—but separation is as easy as marriage. The union is simply broken off and another contracted at will. The fact that children are the wards of the community simplifies this arrangement.

In harmony with their idea that all should be free to think as they wish, no acceptance of any particular religious tenets are demanded. Their creeds are widely different—Atheists, Tolstoians, even Moslems. Probably the Tolstoy Communist theory is the most widely accepted. Following that theory they dispensed with all forms of money for nearly three years, but this brought about complications, imprisonment for nonpayment of taxes, and "parasites" crept in who lived off the labor of the others.

So they decided to deal in handicrafts—to weave cloth more than enough to supply their needs, selling the surplus; and to enlarge their bakery that it might cater to the surrounding country.

The plan has worked. They turn out excellent products. There is no director or boss.

They have plenty of time for the joys of life. Every night there is music, chess tournaments or lectures. Locks and keys are unknown. Every house is open. They all feel that they are essentially members of one family. If anyone falls ill, all the colonists help. Three of them are trained physicians.

No outside authority is recognized. Everything is settled by community discussion. If roads need repairing, the men turn out and fix it. If a new house is needed, they turn to and build it. They have installed a central heating plant that furnishes warmth to all Whiteway.

Germany," which attracted a great deal of attention. It showed all branches of the wonderful old family tree still in her possession and just how she traces her relationship to all the crowned families of Europe.

Keep Warm
Foods Out
Of Ice-Box

Real economy is always to keep the ice-chamber well filled so that a uniform temperature—preferably about forty degrees, never above sixty degrees—is uniformly maintained. It is the greatest mistake to try to prevent the ice from melting by any such habit as covering it with papers or cloth, and never put milk, butter or other products directly on the ice. Actual contact between the air to be cooled and the ice surface is necessary.

The doors of the refrigerator should be kept tightly closed. This saves ice and helps to maintain a more even temperature. Since the cold-air currents fall, this makes the bottom compartment under the ice-chamber the coldest location of all. That is why this is the place to set the most perishable foods, which are generally milk, butter or raw meats. The next coldest place is the lowest compartment on the opposite side, and here may be placed meats or delicate watery vegetables or berries, all most likely to rapid decay. The racks above are less cold as we ascend, and we can remember that the top rack or location is the least cold and therefore the place for relishes, dry foods and those that have been cooked.

Warm foods should never be placed in the refrigerator. They cause the ice to melt wastefully, the temperature of the air is raised, which increases the bacteria count and the chances of the food to sour or spoil. This is particularly true of soup, milk and semi-liquid dishes whose watery consistency is exactly the desired medium for potential "culture" in which little bacteria love to play and grow. That, too, is the reason why solid and dry portions of food are best laid away apart from their gravy or sauce, since the dry portion will tend to keep better and longer than a fluid. Again, one speck of mold, will, like radio waves, travel to a distant article or saucer of food and invisibly but quite surely contaminate any surrounding surface which is also moist and warm. Thus an unnoticed piece of cheese in the rear, a portion of ham bone, a bit of pimiento or other soft food will be the unseen cause of odors and spoilage. Nor can one expect the best refrigerator to keep sweet milk which has stood on the back shelf over the sun, on the hot shelf over the range, or even on an open pitcher on the table some hours before its return to the bottle. Frequent changes or rise in temperature in the ice-box is the most common cause for souring and spoiling of its contents.

CULTIVATE EYELASHES AND BROWS
TO HAVE NEAT, WELL-GROOMED LOOK

BY HARRIET HAMMOND

You have to accept the eyes you were born with, but the lashes that fringe them are of your own making. I know it is impossible to change the expression or shape of the eye, but you can cultivate for yourself those long silky lashes that make any eyes passable.

My stock in trade is a small bottle of sweet almond oil and a small camel's-hair brush. Apply the oil over the eyebrows in a graceful line across the lashes on the under side. To make the lashes curl upward appealingly press the lashes back after the oil has been applied. This gets them into the idea of growing that way. Always after oiling the brows, brush them carefully so they will have that neat, well-groomed look.

SISTER
KITCHEN

Breakfast—Shredded fresh pineapple, broiled bacon, scrambled eggs, bran muffins, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Creamed dried beef with rice, toasted bran muffins, marmalade, rice cookies, milk, tea.

Dinner—Casserole of smoked salmon, steamed spinach, jellied tomato salad, date custard pie, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

When fresh fish is not available the smoked varieties can be used in most appetizing ways. The tang of the cured fish is often a welcome change from the mildness of fresh fish.

Children under 6 years of age should not be served the casserole dish for their dinner. They may have the date custard without the crust, spinach, tomato jelly, whole wheat bread and butter and milk.

CREAMED DRIED BEEF WITH RICE

One-fourth pound dried beef, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1½ cups milk, 2 tablespoons grated cheese, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 2 hard-cooked eggs, 1 cup boiled rice.

Melt butter in frying pan. Add dried beef pulled into small pieces and cook until the edges frizzle. Sift flour over meat and stir with a fork until perfectly blended. Slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Add grated cheese and cook until cheese is melted. Add chopped whites of eggs. Pour mixture over hot boiled rice and range through a ricer and sprinkle over top of mixture.

CASSEROLE OF SMOKED SALMON

One and one-half pounds smoked salmon, 4 onions, 1 cup canned peas, ¼ cup diced cooked carrots, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 8 medium-sized potatoes, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons butter, ½ cup milk, 1½ cups dried bread crumbs.

Scald salmon in very salty put through two or three waters. Cut in pieces to serve and sprinkle with lemon juice. Melt butter and add crumbs. Stir until well coated. Put fish into a well-buttered casserole. Sprinkle lightly with crumbs and add alternate layers of peas, carrots, potatoes sliced and crumbs with onion sliced onion in each layer of vegetables. Add boiling water to cover. Bake slowly for one hour. Add milk and continue baking for 15 minutes.

RELISH, JAM
AND CONSERVE
FROM RHUBARB

BY SISTER MARY

Rhubarb is invaluable as a fruit strecher, so to speak.

This common garden plant can be added to delicate fruits, increasing the quantity without changing the quality or flavor of the finished product.

These recipes may suggest other combinations to suit your particular needs.

RHUBARB AND PINEAPPLE MARMALADE

Two cups finely chopped rhubarb, 2 cups shredded pineapple, 3 cups sugar, ½ cup water.

Cook pineapple in the water for twenty minutes. Add rhubarb and cook until rhubarb is very soft. Sift in sugar and cook one hour. Turn into sterilized jelly glasses and cover with paraffin when cold.

Rhubarb, combined with raisins, dates and spiced vinegar makes a delicious "relish" to use with meats.

SPICED RHUBARB

Two and one-half pounds rhubarb, 2 pounds granulated sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon cloves, ½ teaspoon ginger, 1 scant cup vinegar.

Wash and skin rhubarb and cut in singing class with all the choo-chooing that is going on. There is a time for everything and this certainly is not the time for sneezing! Achoo! Achoo!

For at that minute some of the snuff got up her nose, too.

The class laughed. "I'm sorry to say, and at that she got crosser than ever."

At that minute she spied the goblin himself. "Who are you?" she asked in surprise.

"A visitor," said Snitcher Snatch meekly. "I came to take lessons in sneezing."

At that the teacher seized a stick and drove him out.

The twins laughed. "He still has before the snuff box," said Mister Whizz solemnly.

BATHING CAPS WITH POSIES

The bathing cap of this season bursts forth into riotous, waterproof blossoms of brilliantly colored rubber and is a decided improvement over the old plain variety that had nothing but utility to recommend it.

inch lengths. Put a little water in preserving kettle, add rhubarb, cover and bring to the boiling point. Mix and shift sugar and spices over rhubarb. Add vinegar and simmer until thick, when a spoonful is tried on a cold saucer. Pour into sterilized jelly glasses and cover with paraffin when cold.

RHUBARB AND STRAWBERRY JAM

One pound rhubarb, 2 pounds strawberries, 2 pounds granulated sugar.

Wash and skin rhubarb. Wash and hull berries. Cut rhubarb into small pieces or put through the food chopper. Catch the juice from the rhubarb that drips from the crank case. Combine rhubarb, juice and sugar. Add berries and let stand until sugar is dissolved. Put over a low fire and bring to the boiling point. Stir frequently to prevent sticking and crush the fruit. Cook until a spoonful tried on a cold saucer jellies. Turn into sterilized jelly glasses and cover with paraffin when cold.

RHUBARB AND STRAWBERRY CONSERVE

Two cups finely chopped rhubarb, 2 cups chopped pineapple, ½ cup hulled strawberries, ½ cup blanched and shredded almonds, ½ cups sugar.

Pare and remove eyes from pine apple. Cut out core and put through the coarse knife of food chopper, catching the juice that runs from the crank. Combine fruit and juice and bring to the boiling point. Simmer ten minutes. Add strawberries, sticking and crush the fruit. Cook until a spoonful tried on a cold saucer jellies. Turn into sterilized jelly glasses and cover with paraffin when cold.

RHUBARB RELISH

Two pounds rhubarb, ¼ pound seeded and chopped raisins, ½ pound stoned and chopped dates, 3 cups vinegar, 2 pounds light brown sugar, 1 tablespoon chili peppers, 1½ tablespoons salt, 1 teaspoon ginger, ½ cup chopped English walnut meats.

Combine raisins and dates and let stand in vinegar for 1 hour. Skin rhubarb and cut in half-inch pieces. Add to first mixture with all the remaining ingredients except the nuts. Cook slowly, stirring frequently for two hours. Add nuts and cook ten minutes longer. Turn into sterilized jelly glasses and cover with paraffin when cold.

PREPARE FOOD
NEW WAYS TO PLEASE FAMILY

At this season of the year, with such an abundance of vegetables we sometimes tire of them cooked in the usual way—that is, just boiled, and served with or without sauce.

Some who will not eat certain vegetables ordinarily, will relish them if prepared in a new way. So, let's try something different and do a little experimenting if necessary, when we have the tastes of the various members of our family to cater to.

Carrots, for some reason or other, are not looked on with much favor, and yet they are really delicious and very wholesome, and should be served more frequently than they are, which reminds me of a woman who took her young daughter to a doctor. He looked her over and told the mother to see that she had claret three times a day for a month and then to bring her back to him. At the end of the month, the mother and daughter returned. The daughter, instead of being the bloodless, lifeless thing she was now blossomed like a rose. The doctor was pleased to see such good results come from his prescription. The mother said: "Yes, doctor, I did just as you said and gave her carrots three times a day, and they sure did bring her out."

Now, not many of us would care to have such a steady diet of carrots as that, but there are so many ways of preparing them that we can have them often and yet not tire of them.

Suppose, now, you try them in this way.

CARROT SAUCE

Scrape and cook young carrots in boiling salted water till tender. Cut in halves lengthwise; roll in cracker crumbs, then in beaten egg and crumbs again, and fry in butter till a golden brown. Sprinkle with minced parsley and serve very hot.

Cauliflower and onions "au gratin" are also delicious, and certainly a change from the everyday, plain boiled vegetable.

"Au gratin," according to the French, really means "baked with a coating of bread crumbs," and does not mean "cooked in cheese" as is commonly understood.

In most au gratin dishes, either cracker or bread crumbs, mixed with butter and seasonings (and sometimes with grated cheese) are sprinkled on top of the other ingredients. Such dishes are especially attractive for luncheons.

Health Hints

NEURALGIA? GET A DOCTOR

Neuralgia of the face may be attributed to many different causes. Some of these are abscessed teeth, non-erupted teeth, eye strain, diseased conditions of the nose or adjacent cavities. It is aggravated by constipation and other causes which impair the general health and increase nervous irritability.

It is accompanied by much pain: tearing, boring pains on one side of the face, nausea, twitching of the muscles of the face, and shooting pains, which radiate from different points, as the front of the nose, the eye, forehead, ear and from behind the ear.

Hot poultices or hot cloths applied to the face afford some relief. A more definite relief, however, is obtained by the injection of alcohol into the nerve trunk or its vicinity. This calls for the service of a physician. Frequently the disease returns, after one thinks he has been permanently cured. This is due to the fact that the cause has not been removed.

A thorough physical examination is advised for persons suffering from neuralgia.

Household Hints

TO DISCOURAGE MOTHS

Wrap your woolen garments in newspapers putting moth balls in the folds, and pack away for the summer in covered boxes. Printers' ink is very obnoxious to moths.

THOSE RUST STAINS

Remove from rust stains by wetting them with lemon juice and salt and letting them dry in the sun.

TRY AN OIL RUB

If a black straw hat has become dusty and gray, brush it thoroughly with a piece of flannel that has been slightly oiled with vaseline.

A NEW COMPLEXION

Colored straw hats that have faded may be made like new by coloring with an oil paint thinned to the right shade and made the consistency of gasoline.

PUT ON HANGERS

Always put your dresses away on hangers as soon as you take them off, and dust and clean them before putting them back in the closet.

TO BLEACH HANDS

Washing the hands in warm milk every night is an excellent and harmless way to bleach them and to remove traces of household toil.

FOR CLEANING HATS

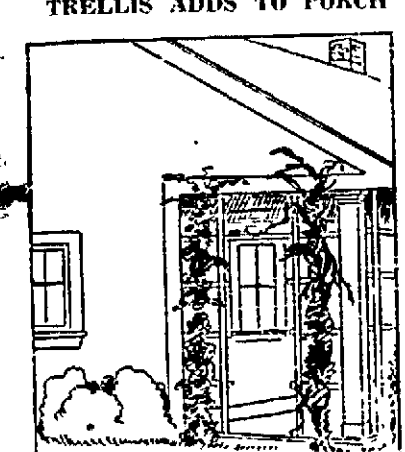

Corn meal is excellent for cleaning flannel and felt hats. It should be rubbed in, allowed to stand for a day or so, and then rubbed out with a clean brush.

DON'T USE TINS

Never bake acid fruits or vegetables in a tin pan since the acid acts on the tin. Use agate or enameled instead.

HOME BEAUTY

TRELLIS ADDS TO PORCH

If your porch is open at one end, trellis for roses or vines will make it much more attractive and add privacy to the porch.

LETTER FROM SYDNEY CARTON TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT,
CONTINUED

I will tell you my friend, that I have never in my life been moved to such an emotional thrill as at this ceremony. I found the tears running down my cheeks in rivulets. I tried to get my handkerchief but my hands were shaking so that I could not get it. The thought of a saintly woman putting her boy into the care of yours was one of the most wonderful things I have ever known.

Little Jack bent his head over the little red-faced animal in his arms and kissed it, which closed the proceedings, for the nurse took the baby from the room.

No, I forgot. As soon as the boy was relieved of the baby he crawled upon the bed beside Leslie and as his hand caressed her face he kissed her eyes and hair, and with great unctious, "I will wuv' little Buddy, 'cause I wuv' you, murrer, and you wuv' me to wuv' him."

Jack Prescott, you need killing, but I say you just the same. Two men are growing up who will call you father. Two men will come onto the world's battleground and fight a good fight because they have called your wife "mother."

You, old chap, haven't had very much to do with it, and what you have had has made two women quite unhappy.

Leslie is growing more beautiful every day. For a moment I watched her tonight with her son in her arms and yours clinging to her knees and she made for me the picture of "motherhood divine."

SYD.

P. S.—I am leaving for home tomorrow. That is a queer mix-up of young Condon's. Leslie told me about it. Isn't a strange, old chap, what a woman can do with us? A bad woman can carry us down to the nethermost hell, and a good woman will bear us in her arms up to the highest heaven.

You see, I am feeling very good tonight, and I should feel this way, because for once I have seen the thing that all the poets have tried to describe, but without avail, and all the artists have attempted to paint, but never quite succeeded. I have seen a beautiful woman teaching her children the first rudiments and ethics of life.

Yes, I envy you. SYD.

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burton

Maggie glared at her. "That's my business," she snapped. "But I can tell you one thing, Mrs. Gregory! . . . I'll not be stopping another night in a house like this! Women drinking and smoking and carrying on right in front of my eyes! . . . Look at yourself! Hardly able to stand!"

It was true that Gloria could hardly stand. She was still faint and dizzy. She leaned against the cold stove.

"I've always worked for decent people . . . and been decent, myself!" Maggie went on. "I've kept myself to myself for forty-five years, and no cheap actor is going to chuck me under the chin, my lady! Let me tell you that!"

"Who chucked you under the chin?" Gloria asked sweetly.

"Oh, that actor . . . that Mr. Smart Aleck, the one you call 'Stan'!" Maggie answered. She tossed her head.

"Oh, Maggie, it must have been accidental! I'm sure he didn't mean to do it!" Gloria said. She laughed in spite of her self. The thought of Stan Wayburn chucking the elderly Maggie under her fat chin was too funny!

"Well, anyway I'm going . . . and I'm going tonight!" Maggie declared.

She began to put on her coat.

"Oh, Maggie, you wouldn't leave me to clean up this mess of a house all alone, would you?" Gloria was on the verge of tears.

The kitchen table was filled with sticky glasses. The sink was piled high with plates waiting to be washed. Some salad dressing was splashed against the wall.

And Gloria knew that the rest of the house was littered with cigarette ashes and stubs, with wilted flower petals, and all the rest of the sordid souvenirs of a "wild" party.

"I'm sure it's not my fault that the house is a mess! It was as neat as a new pin this afternoon . . . and should be, now," Maggie said in her most dignified manner. "Mr. Dick's mother gives dinner parties, but her house never looks like this when they're over, let me tell you! . . . She knows how to entertain!"

Maggie picked up her coat, hat and traveling bag, just as Dick came into the kitchen.

"Wait a minute, Maggie," he said quietly, attempting to take the bag from her hand.

"No, Mr. Dick," replied Maggie, trying to pull away from him. "I am going. I will not stay in this house another night!"

"If you've really made up your mind to go back to Mother's house, I'll drive you over," Dick said. "You can't go walking around the town at this hour of night alone!"

He started to go back into the hall for his hat and coat.

But Gloria barred his way. She threw her arms across the door.

"Dick Gregory, you must be crazy," she said. "Here's this woman leaving me at a moment's notice—and you actually upholding her in what she's doing to me!"

Dick stooped and kissed his angry little wife. Then he gently pushed her out of his way.

"Run upstairs, Littlest," he said quietly. "Don't be afraid here by yourself. . . . I'll be back in ten minutes."

Cold with anger, Gloria climbed the stairs through the silent house.

She heard the hum of Dick's roadster as it swung down the street.

The clock in the hall downstairs began to chime . . . one, two, three, four!

Four o'clock! In another four hours Dick would be wanting his breakfast. And no Maggie here to get it for him!

Well, let him go without breakfast! It would serve him right! He had been so ready to take Maggie back to his mother's house . . . let him see how he liked getting along without her!

For Gloria had made up her mind she would not get breakfast. She would not sweep and dust. She certainly would not wash greasy dishes.

In a word, she would not work! "If I ever start drudging around the house, I'll have my mother's life all over again. . . . And I'd rather be dead!" she told herself.

She looked at her pink-tipped

BUSINESSMEN ORGANIZE NEW BOXING CLUB HERE

Appleton Athletic Club Will Take Up Franchise To Boost Fighting Game

Charles Hopfensperger Is Elected President of New Organization

Ten Appleton businessmen have organized a fight club here and have filed incorporation papers under the name of Appleton Athletic Club. They have applied for the franchise of the Midwest Athletic club of which Elmer Johnston is matchmaker and plan to put on their first card on Labor day if their plans to through as scheduled.

At a meeting of the stockholders they elected Charles Hopfensperger president, John M. Balliet vice president, Ralph Gee secretary and J. T. McCann treasurer.

MIDWEST CLUB LOSES
The new club was formed when it was learned that the Midwest club was about to disintegrate and had not made application for a new franchise when the old one expired on May 1. Rumors that Elmer Johnston would quit the game had been circulated frequently when several of his cards failed to draw crowds large enough to cover his expenses, but until recently Johnston remained optimistic for the future and hung on. Fight after fight had gone wrong although Johnston took great pains to secure good attractions, and with the exception of the Stripling-Quinn go here and one or two others every card showed a loss.

The new club plans to profit by the experience of Elmer Johnston with his Midwest club. A competent matchmaker will be engaged to arrange the cards. He will be a man who has had wide experience at the fight game and who can devote much of his time to this during the season. The club will instruct him to secure only high class fighters and to bring the standard here up to that in Milwaukee, Green Bay, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac and other cities in Wisconsin and the Midwest.

CHECK UP ON FIGHTERS
With an organization of this kind conducting fights it will be possible to keep a close check on the records of fighters, not only as to their ring ability but as to the methods of their managers in arranging fights. Johnston frequently found himself in hot water on the eve of a fight because several of the boxers who were to appear refused at the last moment to appear, demanding a higher percentage or finding some other reason for breaking their contracts. At least one local fighter was dropped from the ring by the Wisconsin Fight commission for this reason, but in spite of this other fighters continued to show a tendency to slight their obligations.

With a professional matchmaker in charge of the fights such cases will be rare, it is hoped. Fights will be advertised widely both here and in surrounding towns in an effort to rouse sufficient interest to get the game back on its feet permanently, and what is most important the club will be backed by the funds and influence of a number of prominent businessmen here.

As soon as the details of organization have been completed the club will begin its search for a matchmaker. When such an official has been found one card a month will be arranged. The Appleton Athletic club will conduct its cards chiefly as a sporting proposition and not as a money-making for its members. In this manner it is hoped that fans will be able to see good fights at a moderate cost, and that thus the boxing game will be brought to a high standard here.

SEE HOPE OF LURING DEMPSEY INTO RING

New York—Possibility of luring Jack Dempsey into the ring seemed brighter Friday as a result of initial steps by promoters in shaping two matches for him. Floyd Fitzsimmons of Michigan City, Ind., signed Bartley Madden, veteran New York heavyweight, to fight the champion in a ten-round, no decision contest on Labor day. Although Dempsey's name is missing from the contract, Fitzsimmons declared the champion had announced his willingness by cable to meet Madden provided he could get into condition.

There was a conference Thursday between Paddy Mullins, manager of Willis, and Tex Rickard. Rickard hitherto announced himself as unwilling to stage a Willis-Dempsey fight and Thursday's meeting caused rumors that he might change his mind.

BILL LATHROP NOW IS PITCHER FOR BELOIT

Sheboygan—"Bill" Bill Lathrop, who was given his release from the Sheboygan pitching staff a week ago, has signed up with Beloit, and on Sunday against Racine, he pitched the last six innings after Cashion had lost the game allowing six hits and two runs. Racine won, 7 to 4, and the winners gathered in five runs before Big Bill took the hilllock.

TORPE MAKES GREAT DEBUT WITH TOLEDO

Domnick Torpe, sensational New York university pitcher, who recently joined the Toledo club of the American association, got off to an auspicious start, pitching a three hit shutout. He's the property of the Giants.

CLIFF LEE PLAYING WELL WITH INDIANS

Cleveland—Cliff Lee, former National league outfielder with the Phillies, is playing a nice all-round game for Tris Speaker's Indians.

Lee has not only been hitting well but his blows for the most part have been timely. He's also been covering plenty of territory all day and the other day was on the starting end of a sensational double play, tossing out Lamar of the Athletics at third on a deep throw from right field.

During the first weeks of the chase, Lee occupied a seat on the bench. But of late has been getting the call regularly, and, as mentioned, has been filling the post acceptably.

GOLFERS SET FOR ANNUAL CUP RACE

Qualifying Round of Directors Trophy Tourney at River-view Due Today

Riverview Country club golfers were ready for the qualifying round of the directors cup match scheduled for Saturday afternoon, and it was expected that a large entry list would be registered at the opening day. These matches, besides being important in themselves come only a few days before the Northeastern Golf association tournament at the Lakeside Country club of Manitowoc on July 15, 16, 17 and 18, and will serve to get entrants in that tourney, in shape for their games.

The directors cup will be played for one day for each of the three months, July, August and September, and permanent possession of the trophy will be awarded for the lowest total net score for the three days play. Second and third prizes also will be given, and medal play handicap will apply in the game.

BENTON'S MOUND WORK WINS FROM CINCINNATI, 1-0

Four Clubs in National League Are Kept Idle by Rain Friday

New York—Frustrated by rain Friday for the second time in their hand-to-hand conflict the Pirates, the Giants Saturday undertook to dislodge the leading Pittsburgh Pirates by indirect method of progress at the expense of less troublesome foes.

Postponement of the final game of the series between the foremost rivals for the pennant in the National league Saturday brought Chicago a seventh place club at the Polo grounds. The champions looked for milder opposition, while Pittsburgh was called upon to continue at top speed in a series with spunky Brooklyn. The latter club and Chicago Friday were likewise stalled by a down-pour.

Boston spectators had the privilege of looking upon one of the best pitched games of the season, with Benton beating Lange as the Braves nosed out the Reds, 1 to 0.

Philadelphia edged away from St. Louis in a feast of free hitting, 9 to 7, with Rehn retiring early under a fusillade of clouts.

First place Washington and second place Philadelphia suffered defeat in the American. The Senators and White Sox both used three pitchers to stem a torrent of hits, with Chicago emerging on the long end.

Continued good pitching brought Detroit a clean sweep in its series with Boston. Holloway limited the Red Sox to seven scattered safeties and the Tigers breezed through to an easy triumph, 5 to 1.

Bob Meusel hit his twentieth homerun of the season as the Yankees trailed, 9 to 8 under a whirlwind finish by the Browns.

Defeating the Meyer Press team, 10 to 7, in a twilight league game at Jones park Friday afternoon the Bankers climbed within a few points of second place behind the Triangles while the Pressmen remained in their berth just above the tailend Chair Co.

The Pressmen put up a stiff fight in their contest Friday but despite a six-run rally that started in the sixth stanza they finally were forced to give up. In the seventh inning the Bankers ran up five tallies which gave them a safe margin.

CLEAR WEATHER GREET'S HAWTHORNE DERBY START

Chicago—Clear weather and a fast track greeted the field of nine starters in the $20,000 mile-and-a-quarter Chicago derby Saturday at Hawthorne.

Acknowledged leaders of the three-year-old division were included among the entrants. Regarded as 2 to 1 favorites were Dangerous, owned by Clifford A. Cochran and ridden by Clarence Krummer, and Harry F. Sinclair's Silver Fox, mounted by Jockey L. Fator.

Arbitration's chances to win were considered to rest on the superior horsemanship of its pilot, Earle Sande, rather than its own speed.

PICK OF YANK COLLEGES CLASH WITH BRITISHERS

Cambridge, Mass.—The combined forces of Harvard and Yale clash with the pick of Oxford and Cambridge Saturday afternoon at the Harvard stadium in their seventh dual track meet in 26 years.

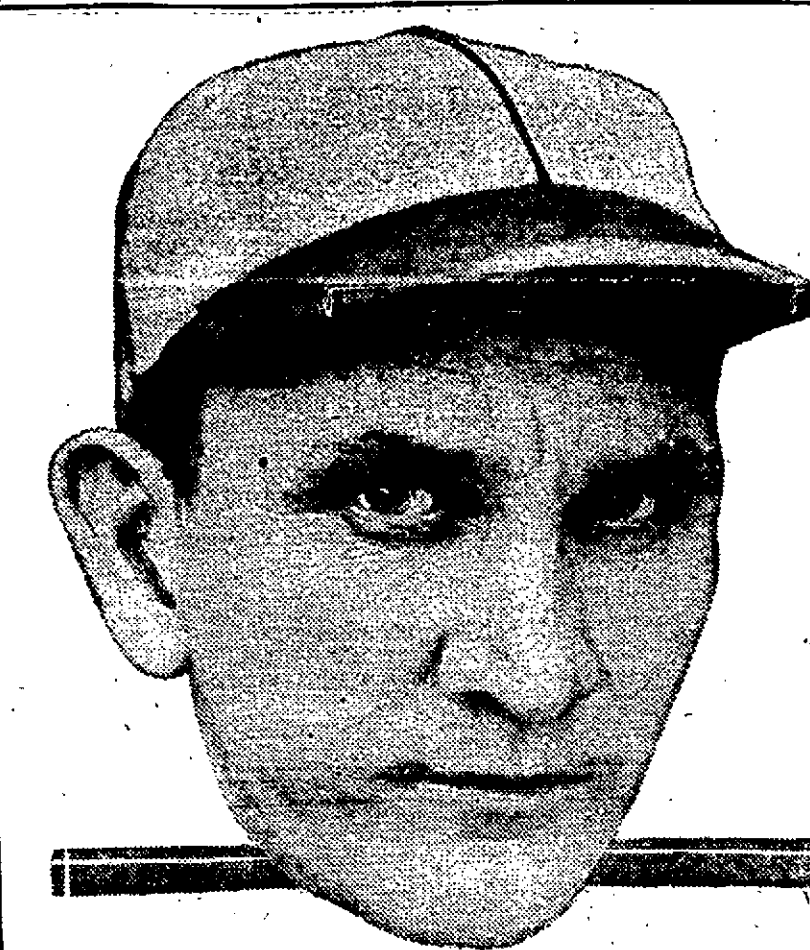

This will be a deciding year, as each commission has won three meets. First places only will count in each of the 12 events, with the greatest number of second places deciding the winner in case of a tie.

The Americans are rated slight favorites, mainly because of their better condition and the fact that their opponents barely have had time to get rid of their sea legs.

GIANTS FINALLY END LONG LOSING STREAK

After losing six straight games the Giants finally managed to clinch a victory by beating Cincinnati. It took 13 innings to do it, however. It was one of the worst slumps a McGraw team has experienced in quite some time.

NAMED LEADER OF CUBS

"RABBIT" MARANVILLE

He's the new manager of the Chicago Cubs, having been named to succeed Bill Killefer, who held the post since Aug. 4, 1921. Maranville has been playing professional ball for over 15 seasons, and long has been regarded one of the greatest infielders in the game. He came to the Cubs in a trade with Pittsburgh last winter.

Maranville's appointment adds one more name to the rapidly growing list of playing managers. Incidentally, the "Rabbit" got off nicely, winning his first game as a pilot.

Predicted Ring Bouts Fail To Materialize

BY JOE WILLIAMS
New York—A year ago our withered fingers limped painfully across the face of a typewriter classifying the "naturals" that seemed to exist in the boxing game. There were:

Dempsey and Willis;
Greene and Walker;
Leonard and Walker;
Dempsey and Kaplan;
Villa and Genaro.

Five "naturals." More than the game offered in years. It seemed certain the 1925 boxing season would be the most active and eventful in history.

DUNDEE PETERED OUT
What's happened to the Dempsey-Willis "natural"? Dempsey is in Paris learning how to master coffee in the least tense manner. It isn't likely he will fight at all this year. It isn't likely he will ever fight the Negro.

And the Leonard-Walker "natural"? Benney has retired as a many courtesy to his mother and the theatrical agent who handles his publicity. At present he is in vaudeville committing such quaint drooleries as "Who that lady I saw you walking down the street with, etc."

Dundee didn't last long enough to allow promoters to work up a new frenzy about Kaplan and a fight for the featherweight championship, which the ancient Scotch-Wop relinquished voluntarily. In two recent bouts the light-tapping Sid Terris proved conclusively Johnny is through.

Villa and Genaro seem no closer together today than a year ago. And all the blague seems to rest on Villa. The Golden Atom apparently wants none of the New York Italian's game. Genaro has beaten him three times. Villa must feel more disaster would befall him if they met again.

Of all the "naturals" on the book only one has transpired—Walker and Greb. What's more it is not likely any of the others will develop.

TERRIS WINS VERDICT OVER NEBRASKA FLASH
Chicago—The meteoric progress of Ace Hudkins, 19-year-old Omaha boxer from obscurity to a lightweight title contender, received a set back Friday night from Sid Terris of New York.

Terris won a close decision in a ten-round thriller at East Chicago by showing superior speed and boxing ability.

The young Nebraska carried the fight to the New York boxer from the start but missed frequently, enabling Terris to score with jolting rights to the head and body at close range. Hudkins knocked his opponent into the ropes in the fourth and seventh rounds but the New Yorker's recovery was swift.

In the last two rounds Terris was the aggressor. Terris weighed 132; Hudkins 124½.

SAM JONES IS ONLY WINNER FOR YANKEES

"Sad Sam" Jones has been the only Yankee hurler to win with any degree of consistency for Huggins so far this season. Jones in the first 10 weeks of play copped 11 games, to seven defeats. At that time he was the only runner on the staff over the .500 mark.

New York—Jack Kearns, Manager of Jack Dempsey, will not greet the heavyweight champion when he returns next week from abroad.

Hollywood—Ted "Kid" Lewis, former world's welterweight champion, won a decision over Bob Sage of Detroit in ten rounds.

MEYERS RETAINS WORLD MAT TITLE IN OSHKOSH MENU

Van Wurden, Canadian Champ. Leaves Fatal Opening in Third Fall

Oshkosh—Johnny Meyers of Chicago is congratulating himself on the fact that he is still the world wrestling champion in the middleweight class. For a while Thursday night at Armory B here it appeared as if he was due to turn the title over to Carl Van Wurden, Oshkosh gripper, who holds the Canadian championship.

After each had secured a fall, Van Wurden made a splendid showing in getting the champion all but out with a series of headlocks and had it not been for the fact that Van left an opening by exposing his legs, which opportunity Meyers was quick enough to seize, Oshkosh might now be boasting of having the king of wrestlers in its midst. Notwithstanding the outcome, the Canadian proved that he is right up in the world championship class and he is destined to get further notice among the "higher ups" in that brand of sport.

HANSON WINS MATCH
Gale Hanson was victor over Jack Spurling, Meyers' training partner.

Spurling got a big hand from the audience, because of the type of scrap he put up against Hanson, an opponent twenty-five to thirty pounds heavier than himself. The fans were well pleased with this match, which was as good as, if not better, than any ordinary windup.

Kid Knight of Waupaca and Gale McCaulley won their respective matches.

McCaulley licked Stanley Wolzneck of Berlin in eight minutes, with a reverse wrist lock the first time and a pinning hold for the deciding fall.

Bob McLaughlin of Waupaca challenged the winner of this match.

Kid Knight and Tritt put up a great bout. The affair was limited by time, Knight getting the only fall in the ten minute period, with a scissors and bar arm.

Chippewa Falls—Jack Mooschie of Hudson, knocked out Bill Brians of Duluth, claimant of the Canadian ship in the ninth round.

Baseball Moguls Rule Chilton Games Invalid For Violation Of Rule

Appleton Has Chance to Climb into Third Place as Result of Punitive Measure

STANDINGS
Plymouth 6 1 .557
Fond du Lac 5 2 .514
Chilton 2 3 .400
Appleton 3 5 .375
Oshkosh 3 5 .375
Campbellsport 2 5 .285

Two games played by Chilton in which Eastern Wisconsin league rules regarding the use of outside players were violated, were ruled out by the directors of the league in executive session at the Retlaw hotel in Fond du Lac Friday evening, but in spite of this Chilton retains its berth in third place. The meeting Friday night was called by A. Larsen of Plymouth, President of the league, to hear the protest of Campbellsport which alleged that the Chilton club had used Bremen, a pitcher from Green Bay, and an Oshkosh player in recent games.

Chilton was found guilty of this transgression and besides having the respective games cancelled was punished, by a fine. The games must be played over later in the season. The rule in question forbids the use of players outside an 18-mile radius of the town in whose club they are engaged.

APPLETON PROFITS
As the standings are now, Appleton has a chance to advance to third place in the wheel if Chilton loses and the Beetmen defeat Campbellsport. At present Appleton and Oshkosh are tied for fourth place.

The Beetmen have blanked campbellsport, 1 to 0, in the one previous game they have played, and are planning to improve their performance at Brandt park Sunday afternoon.

Saturday afternoon the Appleton club was scheduled to meet Combined Locks there in an extra-league game.

Manager C. O. Baetz planned to put Refko in the box in order to save Torrow and Crowe for Sunday, while Last would be behind the log as usual. The Combined Locks battery was to be Loder and Cavill.

GREEN BAY GIRL WINS NORTHEAST GOLF TITLE

Menominee—Miss Virginia Gittens of De Pere, member of the Green Bay club, and woman's champion of Wisconsin in 1923, won the north-eastern Wisconsin woman's golf championship here Friday morning, defeating Mrs. H. L. Walker, also of Green Bay, 6 up and 5 to go, in the finals of the three-day tournament.

Mrs. H. L. Barkhausen, the deposed champion, was eliminated by Mrs. Walker on Thursday. Miss Plumb of Manitowish won the second flight and Mrs. S. B. Sanderson, Menominee, runner up. Mrs. C. B. Green Bay, took the consolation flight, with Mrs. Jules Parmentier, Green Bay, runner up.

SELECT PINK MITCHELL TO OPEN OUTDOOR MENU

Milwaukee—Pink Mitchell, junior welterweight champion, has been selected to meet some suitable opponent in the opening event of Milwaukee's out-of-doors boxing season, Aug. 7.

Out-of-doors boxing was legalized by the last session of the state legislature and efforts have been made to bring Willie Harmon here, but he has demanded through his manager a $10,000 guarantee. It was announced Saturday that efforts will be made to obtain Mickey Walker for the Aug. 7 date.

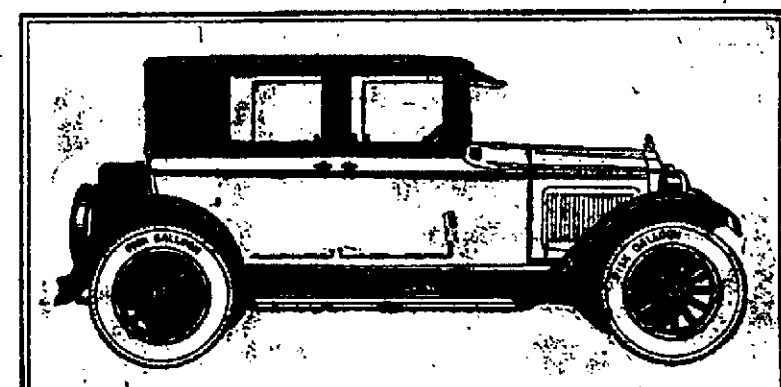

TILDEN'S DRIVE AND SERVICE BIG ASSETS

Tilden's speedy service and running drive have played no small parts in the success the Quaker celebrity has had on the courts. His height and reach here also given him an advantage over other competitors. All of these points plus natural ability have enabled "Big Bill" to rule the net universe for five straight seasons.

Minneapolis—Joe Stecher, Dodge, Neb., claimant of the world's heavyweight wrestling title, defeated Dick Daviscourt, Wichita, Kas.

WILLYS-OVERLAND-FINE-MOTOR-CARS

You Can Count on Keeping Your Willys-Knight Two or Three Times as Long as Other Cars

ANY one of the more than 200,000 owners will tell you that buying a Willys-Knight isn't merely making a car purchase... He will tell you it is the best investment you could make in present and perpetual car-satisfaction.

From the first mile—smooth-running, quiet, powerful. Better on every count at 10,000. Still smoother, more silent, more and more powerful at 25,000. And at 50,000 your Willys-Knight is a quieter and more efficient car than the day you bought it.

To this exceptional engine efficiency is added another exclusive advantage—absolute lack of vibration, due to the Lanchester Balancer. The Willys-Knight is the only automobile in the United States equipped with this device.

No valves to grind. No carbon troubles. The patented sleeve-valve idea gets rid of both, completely... The only motor that actually improves with use... In 14 years, a Willys-Knight engine that has ever worn out has yet to be recorded.

KIWANIS CLUB —
LEASES GROUND FOR CAMPSITE

Tract West of Alicia Park Will Meet Need Existing Here for Tourist Haven

Appleton has a tourist campsite! This news which will be welcome to many Appleton business firms was spread abroad Saturday morning by J. L. Johns, president of Appleton Kiwanis club, after that organization had signed a lease for a 5-acre tract of land.

It is located west of Alicia park near S. Outagamie-st and W. prospect-ave, a short distance from the river bank, and is owned by Fred F. Wettengel.

Tourists will be allowed to use the camp at once, Mr. Johns says, and guide signs will be put up within a day or two to direct them there. The camp will be equipped with sufficient conveniences so that the travelers will enjoy their stay there.

The club probably will place a request with the common council at its meeting Wednesday evening to provide police supervision while the camping season is on. The lease with Mr. Wettengel is for the summer period.

Kiwanians have been working on this project ever since the park board closed Alicia park to tourists and examined several places before deciding on this one.

FORD BID HIGH ON SHIP BOARD BOATS

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—Henry Ford has formally entered the bidding for the 200 vessels offered for sale by the shipping board for scrapping with an offer described by Chairman O'Connor as "way over" that of the Boston Iron and Metal Co. of Baltimore, the best previous bid submitted.

The Detroit Manufacturer's tender was handed to the board chairman Friday by W. J. Mayo, his chief engineer, 24 hours after the board had rejected the recommendation of President Palmer of the fleet corporation for acceptance of the $1,370,000 bid of the Boston Iron and Metal Co. and ordered further negotiations on the sale.

Mayor John Goodland and Fred E. Bachman, president of the Appleton Trades and Labor council gave addresses of welcome to the opening session of the convention Saturday morning.

Prominent speakers on the program are F. R. King, Madison, state plumbing inspector, and Frank Kennedy, Chicago, assistant secretary of the United Association of Plumbers and Steam Fitters.

"GIRLY SHOW" PART OF EDISON'S PARTY

Chicago — Business associates of Thomas A. Edison are taking him to a "girly show" Saturday night continuing a celebration which had among its first features, the balking at his questionnaire by the inventor, his accidental proof of the law of gravity, and the presentation to him of a traveling trunk.

Celebrating the fourtieth birthday of canned speech, distributors of the device that utilizes the invention for business dictation began a two day convention Friday at the Edison plant and the Beach Country club.

One of the speakers at a luncheon called what were the seven qualifications necessary for a leader of men. Everybody flunked including the inventor. The answer was charm, conscientiousness, character, competence, courage, clarity and caution.

As the deaf inventor was posing for a picture, his ungartered hosey proved the Newtonian law and the shout throng was amoniacal in the shout "pull up your socks." It came from Mrs. Edison, speaking loudly for the inventor to hear.

Markets

MOVEMENTS NARROW ON WALL STREET EXCHANGE

New York—With few exceptions, movements in Saturday's brief session of the stock market were narrow and generally inconsequential. Bear traders succeeded in forcing sharp reactions in a few issues acting inside support. U. S. East Iron Pipe being hammered down over 13 points to 139, but subsequent short coverings carried it back around 148. Steady accumulation of some of the standard industrials, notably American Can was a supporting influence in other quarters. Pockets suspended operations in most issues although Dodge Brothers common which established a new peak just under 30 held firm around that price. Spirited bidding also took place in Certainteed. Products during the last hour. Jordan Motors, Atlantic Refining, General Baking and Foundation Co. sold down 2 points or more. The closing was irregular. Sales approximated 400,000 shares.

BLAME BRITAIN FOR INCREASE IN TIRE PRICES

Dealer Says England Has Increased Rubber Tax to Raise Revenue

England's attempt to pay up her huge war loan to the United States caused an increase in tire prices throughout this country, according to an Appleton tire dealer. At least 50 per cent of the rubber used in the manufacture of tires comes from British colonial possessions in Africa, and England has increased the price of rubber and the price of rubber transportation as one of the easiest ways of raising revenue to liquidate her war debts.

Tire prices still are 40 per cent lower than they were during the war, but are substantially higher than they were last winter. Today a 32x4 tire sells for $24.75. Last winter this tire sold for $18.45, its lowest price. A year ago the tire brought a price of $22.70, two years ago the price was $22.25, and during the war the highest price of a 32x4 tire was $62.45. Before the war the price of a 30x3 1/2 tire was $27, during the war its highest was $39.90, last winter it was low at $12.10 and now this tire is selling for $14.75.

A cut in tire prices cannot be expected before 1930 according to this tire dealer, as it will be fully paid long before the British war debt is paid down.

Henry Ford and Russell Firestone have started rubber plantations in Florida, but the rubber trees there will not be fully grown for at least ten years, and no product can be expected from them for ten or twelve years. Ford also owns rubber plantations in Africa, but the increase in shipping costs on British boats, and the tax on rubber exported from British colonies make the retail price high. It is not expected that rubber grown in Florida in years to come will be any cheaper than African rubber, as laborers on a rubber plantation in Florida get $4.00 a day while coolies laboring on an African plantation get only 40 cents a day.

Last year the amount of rubber used in tire manufacture was 376,000 tons and this year the amount will amount to 420,000 tons. Only 17 per cent of the content of the average tire is pure rubber.

FINISH TWO MILES OF CONCRETE ON HIGHWAY 47

Two miles of 20-ft. concrete road have already been laid on the Federal Aid project between Fond du Lac and Shawano. It has been announced. The contractors are working westward toward Shawano at the present time.

Two miles remain to be completed before this year's quota of the project is finished. The entire job is 7.5 miles in length, 3.5 miles of which will be laid next year or later.

About half a mile has been laid on the Oconto-Pensaukee Federal Aid concrete project. Highway 15. Three miles remain to be paved.

Paving has not as yet started on the Manitowish-Sheboygan Federal Aid job, Highway 17. However, contractors are busy with preparations for the final construction, and a detour has been in force for some time. Highway 42 out of Sheboygan is being used for this purpose.

You Need This Free United States Map in Planning Your Vacation Trip

Here is a most useful offering for this season of the year when we are all busy with plans for the summer outing.

How often we have occasion to refer to a map. We must know how far away Woods Hole is, what States to cross in going to Yellowstone, just where Mackinaw is, and a hundred other little things.

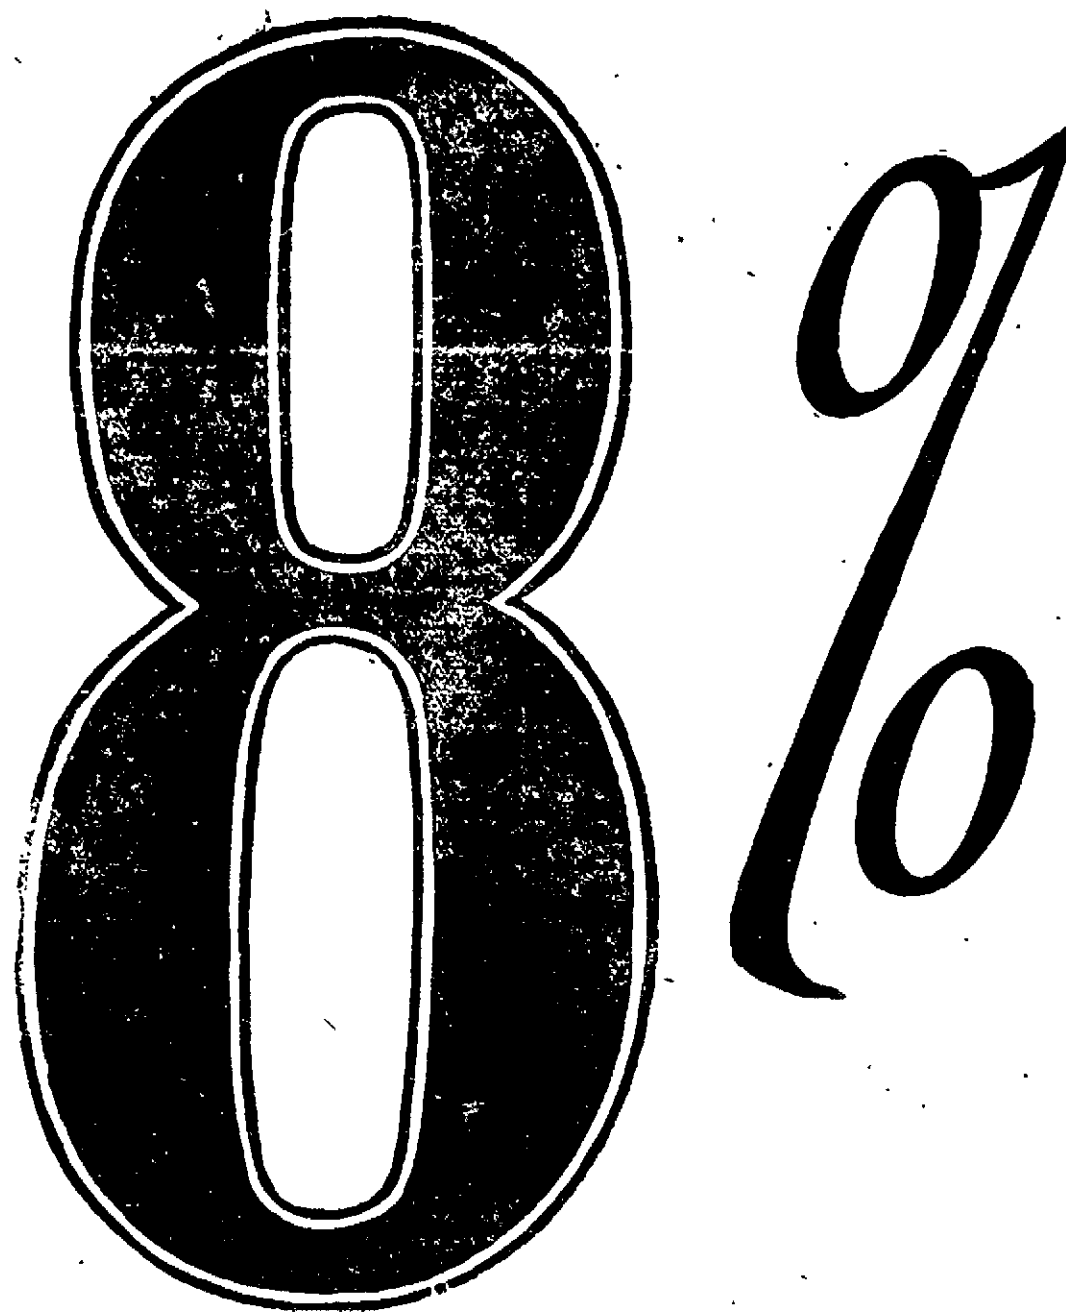

It is dangerous to guess at distances and locations. The better way is to refer to an authoritative map of the United States and know just where you are going before you start.

Our Washington Bureau will supply the map you need free. It is printed in five colors on heavy paper, measures 21 by 25 inches, and is something well worth having at all times.

Send today before the limited supply is exhausted. Just fill in the attached coupon and enclose two cents in stamps to cover the return postage.
